Nazi Raider Sunk In Indian Ocean

LONDON (CP)—The British cruiser Cornwall, hunting down enemy commerce raiders in the Indian Ocean, has sunk a German auxiliary cruiser believed to have been the 21,131-ton former trans-Atlantic liner Hansa.

A terse Admiralty communique today announcing the raider's destruction indicated an engagement between the warships preceded sinking of the enemy vessel. The official statement said the 10,000-ton Cornwall sustained superficial damage which in no way impaired her fighting efficiency.

It was the first enemy raider caught and sunk in the Indian Ocean, where numerous British merchantmen plying between British ports and India, Australia and the Far East have been lost.

The Cornwall saved 53 members of the raider's crew. London sources estimated a crew of about 300 would be aboard an auxiliary cruiser of the Hansa's size, meaning as many as 250 Nazi sailors might have gone down.

27 British Seamen Released By Victors

Twenty-seven British seamen, who had been imprisoned in the raider when their ships were sunk were rescued by the Cornwall.

Authoritative quarters declared the enemy vessel probably was armed with six 5.9-inch guns. Against this armament the Cornwall ranged eight 8-inch guns and 20 smaller pieces of ordnance.

There have been numerous reports concerning activities of German sea raiders in the Indian Ocean, hunting ground in the first Great War of the famous Emden and Seeadler.

It is believed here the British occupation of the Italian east African coast has of late considerably hindered operations of the Nazi raiders by eliminating important sources of supply.

It was recalled that when the British forces captured Mogadiscio, capital of Italian Somaliland, they freed 194 British seamen landed there from a German raider which had sunk their ships.

The Hansa, well-known to the trans-Atlantic trade, created a furore in New York harbor in August, 1937, when an outbreak of typhoid was found among her crew after 1,000 passengers had disembarked and scattered to their homes. Health authorities notified the passengers, but there were no reports of the malady having spread from the crew.

VICTORY REWARDS HER HUNT—Cruiser Cornwall, latest British warship to remove a German craft from the raiding class.

Chinese Pirates Fired on Hansa

On January 8, 1939, Chinese pirates fired on a ship identified as the Hansa within a few miles of Shanghai, but the ship put on full steam and escaped up the Woosung toward Shanghai.

The Cornwall, 590 feet in length, is a cruiser of the Kent class, sister-ships being the Berwick, Cumberland and Suffolk. They carry normally a crew of 679.

B.C. Theatres Protest

Representatives and owners of British Columbia's movie theatres have protested to Ottawa against the new 20 per cent federal tax on motion picture theatres as unfair to those in the low-income groups, Larry Bearg of Famous Players, Vancouver, said this afternoon.

"We don't object to the tax itself," Bearg said. "But we feel that it has been unfairly placed, that it has fallen so heavily on us because other amusements haven't been taxed at all."

The tax is set to start May 19.

No Air Raids

Call Farbenindustrie's Bluff

U.S. Seizes Funds Of Nazi Company

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorney-General Robert Jackson today said the United States had attached the funds of I. G. Farbenindustrie, which he described as "probably the most powerful single factor in German influence on American industry," because of its failure to appear in court in response to an indictment under the Sherman anti-trust law.

Jackson said at a press conference that Farbenindustrie had refused to appear on the ground that it was not doing business in the United States and was not subject to American law as a corporation.

The funds attached are in the National City Bank of New York, the Attorney-General said. He explained the action was taken today because it was learned that payments to the German company under licenses issued to American corporations totaling about $250,000, were to be made today and that the action was taken "when we could get it."

He was certain, Jackson said, that the attachment would result in appearance of counsel for Farbenindustrie.

In response to a question as to whether the department had reason to believe the money might be sent out of the country, Jackson said there was an indication that it would be "transferred out of the country or disbursed," and that once it had reached private hands it could not be traced easily.

Can't Conquer China Tokyo Paper Says

SHANGHAI (AP)—Lieut. Col. Junio Akiyama, official spokesman for Japan's military forces in China, asserted today the Japanese army "can't catch the Chinese."

"This continental arena is too large," he said. "It is difficult for us to run around it."

He made his statements in commenting on an editorial in the Japan Times and Advertiser, Tokyo newspaper controlled by the Japanese Foreign Office, which said Japan was unable to conquer China by force and therefore should seek peace.

"If the Chinese ever assume the offensive," Col. Akiyama said, "we are confident we will be able to trap and annihilate them."

Ontario Cuts Relief

TORONTO (CP)—Hon. Norman Hipel, Ontario Minister of Labor and Welfare, announced today fully-employable, single, male relief recipients and fully-employable male heads of families of two or three will be struck off relief rolls May 15.

The change had been decided upon following a survey of labor requirements on farms and in industry.

U.S. Ships to Red Sea

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Maritime Commission said today that service will be inaugurated to the Red Sea area with ships of United States registry, and that additional service will be inaugurated to China. No details were given.

President Roosevelt recently removed the Red Sea area from the combat zone in an obvious effort to aid the British to obtain delivery of supplies with American ships.

Iraqis Retreat, Air Force Destroyed

Canadian and Associated Press

The Royal Air Force announced tonight at Cairo it had "probably completed the destruction of the Iraq air force" by two bombing attacks on the Kakuba and Shahnabab landing fields near Baghdad.

Meanwhile the British Middle East command at Cairo announced that remnants of the Iraq army which a week ago attacked the R.A.F. airbase at Habbaniyah, 60 miles west of Baghdad, had withdrawn to Ramadi and Falluja.

Ramadi is about 12 miles north of Habbaniyah. Falluja is some 22 miles to the northeast, across Lake Habbaniyah. Both are communication centres on the Euphrates and the east-west road leading to Baghdad.

Iraqis' Supplies In British Hands

The daily war bulletin said British troops, which two days ago captured the Habbaniyah plateau with howitzers flown in by the Royal Air Force, were continuing salvage operations.

Quantities of Iraq war materials of all descriptions were reported being assembled, while Imperial forces were continuing the pursuit of the Iraq forces.

The Basra area, at the head of the Persian Gulf, where British reinforcements have been landed, remained quiet, the British command announced.

R.A.F. Middle East headquarters said that big fires which were started yesterday in an attack on an oil dump near camp Raschid, base of the Iraq air force a few miles from Baghdad, were still burning fiercely for many hours. Raschid airbase, founded by the R.A.F., formerly was named Hanada.

Another disclosure by R.A.F. headquarters today was that the "free Yugoslav" air force had joined British forces and had carried out reconnaissance flights over the Mediterranean.

On the north African front the army bulletin issued at Cairo today said severe sandstorm again had hampered operations at Tobruk, Libyan port.

Eighty miles to the east, on the Egyptian-Libyan border, vigorous patrol activity by Imperial mechanized forces was continuing.

Operations in Ethiopia, the communique said, are "proceeding well."

Italian Gunners Captured

An informed source in London said British East African forces had captured an Italian machine gun company of a grenadier division and occupied some more high ground near Amba Alaji.

He estimated from 30,000 to 33,000 Italians still were resisting in Ethiopia.

Move to Reduce Instalment Buying

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Federal Reserve Board disclosed today it is prepared to curb instalment selling of automobiles and other consumer goods in order to prevent inflation and to conserve industrial resources for the defence program.

Calls for Arms

LONDON (CP)—Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, Deputy Commander-in-chief in the Middle East, called for "arms in an ever-increasing flow" when he sent a message to Britain on the occasion of London's War Weapons Week, the BBC said this evening.

Gen. Blamey called for more arms "so that our men can meet the enemy on even terms."

Italians Claim British Ships Hit

ROME (CP)—The Italian high command today claimed torpedo and bomb hits on two British battleships, an aircraft carrier, two cruisers, a destroyer and three merchant ships and destruction of 16 British planes.

The daily war bulletin asserted the fighting started when a British convoy was sighted yesterday in the western Mediterranean and continued into the night with Fascist planes scoring repeated hits with bombs and torpedoes on the British vessels. It did not claim that any of the ships were sunk.

(No British Admiralty communique on this reported brush appeared to be expected immediately. British accounts of Mediterranean naval engagements usually run a day or two behind the Italian communiques. When they are finally issued the Italian victories in most cases turn out to have been defeats.)

In Critical State

LONDON (CP)—The Yorkshire News said today it had been informed that Marshal Petain, 85-year-old French Chief of State, had been rushed from Vichy to the Riviera in an attempt to relieve a kidney ailment.

The newspaper said Vice-Premier Admiral Darlan had been warned of the possibility of grave complications for the old marshal.

On Tuesday a Vichy dispatch said Petain had gone by special train Monday to his Riviera estate at Villeneuve-Loubet. He was understood, in Vichy, to be interested in observing progress of work being done on the property.

Hepburn Protests

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Hepburn sent a telegram to Finance Minister Ilsley today protesting "most emphatically" the proposal announced in the budget address April 29 to increase the nonresident income tax on Canadian securities other than Dominion bonds from 5 to 15 per cent.

"Ontario wishes to dissociate itself from this impost and wishes to honor its obligations with non-resident bondholders in the exact terms of the contract," Mr. Hepburn's telegram said, asking the government to reconsider the proposal and find some way to avoid arousing "the merited resentment of American holders of bonds of Canadian provinces."

He said American insurance and trust companies now are refusing to accept the impost, which was viewed "as being ill-timed and ungrateful" following on the passing by the United States of the Lease-Lend Bill.

Nazi Shipyards Swept By Fires

Hamburg, Bremen, Berlin, Emden Blasted in R.A.F.'s Greatest Raid

LONDON (CP)—The largest Royal Air Force bombing armada ever assembled for a single night's raid dumped "tens of thousands" of incendiaries and "hundreds of tons" of high explosive bombs on Hamburg and Bremen last night, the Air Ministry announced today.

Although the figure on the number of raiding planes was withheld, British sources speculated the Air Ministry's superlative reference meant that at least 300 to 400 planes were used.

Berlin, Emden Shaken By Explosions

The fiery, blasting assault on the two centres of the enemy's naval construction and maritime industry was but part of the R.A.F.'s general sweep, which included attacks on Berlin and Emden as well as other targets in northwestern Germany, coastal shipping and the U-boat base at St. Nazaire, France. These were called "subsidiary attacks."

(The Germans, acknowledging assault by "strong British forces," said the raiders reached as far as Posen, in German-occupied Poland. The R.A.F. thus completely crossed Germany.)

This assault was taken by observers as a reflection of the growing strength of Britain's air might, augmented by an increased flow of bombing craft from the United States.

The Air Ministry news service gave this account: "More aircraft of the bomber command than ever before on a single night with incendiaries to be counted in the tens of thousands and high explosives in hundreds of tons covered Hamburg and Bremen with fires and smoke last night."

Submarine Yards Set Ablaze

"Buildings were rent and smashed and Germany's submarine and shipbuilding yards were remorselessly bombarded and left with fires blazing in their midst."

"The moon and the weather favored the attack and though it was claimed by the Germans this morning that their defences dispersed the attack, our aircraft were in fact prevented neither by night fighters nor anti-aircraft barrage from streaming over both cities in a constant procession and discharging their whole load on appointed targets."

"Pilots' individual reports speak of 'areas a mass of flames in which it was impossible to distinguish separate fires,' of 'terrible explosions and smoke rising to 10,000 feet' and of 'our most powerful bombs dropped into the heart of the raging fires.'"

Huge Attack Costs 10 Planes

This sweep—described as the Royal Air Force's "heaviest yet"—cost 10 planes.

The Air Ministry's first communique offered no details on the Berlin raid, but elaborated on the Hamburg-Bremen attack:

"High explosive bombs caused widespread destruction," it said, "and many great fires were seen raging in the shipyards and in industrial quarters of both cities."

In attacks by daylight yesterday on German shipping off the Norwegian coast one additional plane was lost, but a German escort vessel was reported on fire and sinking by the stern.

Nazis Lose 13 Planes

Children Evacuate Hull After Big Raid

LONDON (CP)—Hitler's air armada swept across England again last night and bombed vital port and industrial areas, inflicting considerable damage at a cost of 13 planes credited to the blazing guns of British fighters.

The main targets last night were the Humber region on the northeast coast and two districts in the industrial Midlands.

Bombs also fell in London for the first time since April 19, on a northwest coast town and on other areas, mostly in eastern and southern England.

Children today were being evacuated from the Humber area after a second successive night of massed bombing which caused heavy casualties

It was also necessary to put into effect a compulsory billeting scheme to deal with the homeless.

Fires and bombs caused extensive property damage. A seaman's hostel was destroyed and poorhouses seriously damaged.

(The Port of Hull, bombed on numerous occasions during the first Great War, apparently was the chief objective of the Germans in the Humber raids. The city, with a population of about 350,000, is an important fishing centre, as well as a port for overseas trade.)

A number of persons were made homeless in a village in eastern England, but casualties were small because the houses were built of stone.

Residential working-class areas were hard hit in the north Midlands.

A low-flying raider dropped bombs which trapped eight persons in debris in south England.

A few casualties were reported in London, which was under alarm more than four hours. Intermittent gunfire sounded in the capital area.

The toll of German planes credited to British fighters last night brought to 51 the total downed in the 30 hours ended at dawn. Twenty-four were downed Wednesday night—a record for a single night's operations—and 14 yesterday in daylight.

fierce combat which continued through most of the night.

The chatter of machine guns was audible above the drone of motors as the British fighters sought to break the Nazi formations.

It was the eighth successive night of stepped-up German raids on Britain. Since May 1 the average length of nightly alerts in a half-dozen principal areas has been about six hours.

Liverpool, bombed heavily for seven nights, apparently escaped unscathed last night.

The Air Ministry News Service said one squadron of British night fighters last night "ran into a wave of enemy bombers coming in from the sea" over the east coast, and in 45 minutes "sent six crashing down, and damaged others."

Stalin Settling With Hitler Over Balkans?

Soviet Withdraws Recognition Of Yugoslavia, Belgium

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Russia withdrew recognition today from Yugoslavia, Belgium and Norway as sovereign states—an action interpreted in diplomatic quarters as indicating a new understanding with Germany.

(This dispatch was relayed by telephone to Berlin and the connection was broken at the end of the reference to Germany.)

Diplomatic sources believed that Josef Stalin, who only last Tuesday assumed the premiership, was personally settling differences with Germany over

Nazi penetration into the Balkans, in order to maintain the Soviet policy of keeping out of the war.

Today's press reflected this trend, prominently displaying reports of an Axis air raid on the Suez Canal and David Lloyd George's absence from the British House of Commons vote of confidence in the Churchill government.

(Earlier dispatches received today from Moscow said the Foreign Commissariat had informed Yugoslav Minister Milan Gavrilovic that his powers as envoy had, in the Soviet view, lost their validity, and that the Norwegian legation had been given a similar notification.)

(In London informed sources characterized Russia's withdrawal of recognition as an action which "could cause some satisfaction to the Germans without costing Russia very much." Otherwise there was little disposition to comment.)

(When Stalin three days ago assumed the premiership of Russia he displaced Vyacheslav Molotov in that post. Molotov now is continuing in the post of Foreign Commissar and is vice-premier as well.)

(Russia declared officially yesterday, in reaction to foreign reports, that she was not and does not intend to concentrate troops on her western frontiers, facing German-dominated territory.)

It was the Yugoslav minister, Milan Gavrilovic, who April 5 signed with Molotov a Russian-Yugoslav treaty of friendship and nonaggression. Yugoslavia was invaded the next day and has been conquered by Germany.

Norway was invaded April 9, 1940, and Belgium a year ago tomorrow.

VAGUE STATEMENT

After the coup d'etat in which a pro-Axis Yugoslav government was overthrown late in March, the Communist Party organ Pravda said the Moscow government had not sent congratulations to Belgrade on the repudiation of the pro-Axis regime, but that "a people worthy of their glorious past deserve congratulations, and if such congratulations had occurred there would be nothing unusual."

A few days later the Russian-Yugoslav treaty was being hailed in some quarters abroad as "most encouraging news and a fresh sign of Russia's interest in checking German domination in the Balkans."

German Troops to Go Through Syria?

LONDON (CP)—Reuter's news agency quoted the Berlin correspondent of the Swiss Basler Nachrichten today as reporting it was believed the Vichy government had agreed to the passage of German troops through French provinces and mandated territories—including Syria.

This, it was reported, was thought to be Germany's price for German concessions concerning the occupation of the French homeland.

Syria, the correspondent was

Total exports in 1940 were £413,000,000 (about $1,837,000,000). (In 1938 exports were £471,000,000 (about $2,096,000,000).)

(A Canadian Press dispatch of May 6 incorrectly gave the 1938 export total at $417,000,000.)

Canada's War Effort As An Outsider Sees It

By GEORGE H. LYON

Copyright 1941, by the newspaper PM Inc. in the U.S., Canada and all the countries in the International Copyright Union. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.

Canada wasn't dragged into war—as a colony—by the Mother Country. She went in on her own—by a free choice in a free parliament—as an independent nation.

Great Britain declared war September 3, 1939. The Canadian Parliament met in special session in Ottawa four days later to decide whether or not to enter the conflict. It was agreed that a vote on the war address of Prime Minister William Lyon Mackenzie King would constitute Parliament's decision.

The next day in the high, gothic-arched Chamber of Commons the Prime Minister, a bald, plumpish man, said in one of his few moments of great emotion that such action as Parliament might authorize would be taken voluntarily "not because of any colonial or inferior status vis-à-vis Great Britain but because of an equality of status." He said that if Britain and France went down the whole business of isolation would prove to have been a myth.

FOR ALL OF US

"It is for all of us on this continent," he said, "to do our part to save its privileged position by helping others."

"I ask the people of this continent," he continued, "and of all countries: 'What is to be your choice?' And then he read in its entirety a poem about slavery written in the 1840s by America's James Russell Lowell—called 'The Present Crisis.' Mr. King's voice broke when he came to the lines:

"Once to every man and nation comes the moment to decide, In the strife of Truth with Falsehood, for the good or evil side."

When the vote was taken on September 9, only one member of Commons was against going to war. He was a life-long pacifist who declined to depart from his principles.

And so late that night, six days after Britain had gone to war, the Cabinet met in Mr. King's office and as the 53 bells of the carillon in the tower high above pealed the coming of midnight, there was passed an order-in-council informing His Majesty the King of Canada's irrevocable decision.

PLANNED WITH BRITAIN

Canada planned her war effort in close co-operation with the British government from the beginning. It was generally accepted at the outset that it would be a long war—at least three or four years—and the program evolved was built with this in mind. Canada, a great agricultural nation, would send Britain food and some supplies. She had produced more than $1,000,000,000 worth of shells in the last war—a third of all that were used by the Allies in France—and she would resume production of these. This early in the war the industrialists of England thought they would have time to build most of their own munitions industry—the Maginot Line was then something more than crumpled masonry.

However, there are still some Canadian industrialists and officials who say quite frankly that the motive for keeping the war industry in England was largely selfish and that British tycoons were fearful that Canadians might share too largely in war profits.

AIR TRAINING ROLE

But Canada's one great contribution to the effort was to be the administration—of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan—a breath-taking proposal for assembly-line production of an inexhaustible supply of trained airmen—at the start 20,000 airmen a year.

There would be a huge chain of training schools and airbases across the continent into which would be fed the flower of the youth of Canada, Australia and New Zealand. The United Kingdom was eager to provide as much of the equipment and planes for the air training plan as possible, selling those to Canada in order to offset in some degree the heavy purchases of food and other supplies she was making in the Dominion.

Thus the beginning of the war found Canada preparing to train airmen, to send some war material and much food abroad—and some troops. Very few troops as compared with the 600,000 she had poured into the World War. She had no airplane industry, she had been accustomed to buying her naval supplies and coast defences and electrical equipment from England and her machine tools—the kind of big machinery which turns out big guns and stamps out plates for tanks—from the United States.

Canada did, however, have a great motor car industry which later proved of inestimable value in the manufacture of mechanized military equipment. She no longer was building ships in any great quantity; the days of wooden ships had passed and the ring of hammers was heard less loudly in the maritime states of the eastern seaboard.

THEN CAME MAY, 1940

So in early May, 1940, with the Allies taking things fairly easy behind the Maginot Line and some people in the U.S. still talking of a "phony war," Canada plugged ahead on her long haul war effort.

Then came blitzkrieg.

On May 10, German Panzer divisions were tearing into Belgium and the Netherlands. Four days later the Dutch army quit and in two weeks the Belgians were finished. On the dark Sunday of May 26 an exhausted British Expeditionary Force was under torrential German fire to ward Dunkerque. Five days later, protected by a providential fog, the last of the British had quit the Continent.

And now Canada was on her own.

ON OUR OWN

The German break-through in the Low Countries had changed Canada's whole war effort overnight. Prime Minister King, locked in his third floor study in his residence, Laurier House, himself decoded confidential messages from the British government asking Canada to send everything she could. The situation was desperate. England needed guns and supplies and equipment. She needed bombing planes and chemicals and tanks. She would no longer be able to provide planes for the air training plan nor much of the other equipment which Canada had depended on her to supply.

Yes, Canada was on her own—and she rolled up her sleeves and went to work. Parliament met May 16 and plans were immediately set up to expand the machinery of the war effort. The number of defence ministers was increased from one to three, a new Ministry of Munition and Supply was created. Officials, goggle-eyed from lack of sleep, flew to New York and Washington hopeful that the U.S. could supply the planes and supplies previously purchased in England. It was determined to speed up the air training plan and double its capacity.

Canada knew now she was in the war.

ALL-OUT

Thus it becomes evident that Canada, while technically at war for more than 18 months has been embarked upon a full time war effort less than a year. Earlier she had been doing what England asked her to do. Now she is building for both the United Kingdom and herself. If England should ever fall and the British Navy go, responsible officials told me, the danger of invasion would become both serious and immediate. So the skies of the air training schools are filled

Q.—What is Canada spending on the war?

A.—She has been spending $2,700,000 a day as compared with an average of $117,000 a day in the World War. To pay the direct and indirect costs of war during the next 12 months she will expend $1,850,000,000.

Q.—Is that all?

A.—No, Canada must raise $1,150,000,000 to enable Britain to meet a deficit of that amount incurred through the purchase of war supplies in Canada. Those Canadian dollars will be exchanged for Canadian securities now held in Britain or for British sterling. Canada has received no gold from England since December.

Q.—What percentage of Canada's estimated national income will be spent for war this year?

A.—Forty-four per cent. Cost of civil government and provincial and municipal taxes will make the total tax bill over 50 per cent of the national income.

Q.—What would these figures mean translated into terms of a U.S. national income of $80,000,000,000?

A.—They would mean that if the U.S. spent as much proportionately in a war effort as Canada is spending, Americans would dig down in their national trouser's pocket for about $35,000,000,000 which is exactly the sum now budgeted for the defence of the U.S. and its friends during the next several years.

Q.—How is Canada financing her war effort?

A.—Strictly on a pay-as-you-go tion under arms it would have an active army and navy of 2,750,000 men. Americans actually have about 1,500,000, but their period of training is one year.

Q.—How is the air training plan coming along?

AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

A.—It's eight months ahead of schedule. All schools and projects will be in operation September 1. Its personnel now consists of 36,000 airmen and air crews. The first airmen were sent to England in September, 1940. They have been going overseas in increasing frequency and numbers ever since. At full pitch the plan will produce 20,000 pilots, observers and gunners yearly.

Q.—What about industrial production for war?

A.—Canada started airplane production from scratch and ran up against the same bottlenecks as the U.S. She is now turning out 180 planes a month. She is not attempting to build engines, which with much other plane equipment must be obtained in the U.S. She is concentrating on the building of training planes with such surplus as available devoted to long range bombers.

Q.—Motorized equipment?

A.—Four hundred vehicles a day—the type of stuff used by General Wavell in Libya. Light tanks are coming along, heavy tanks, not before 1942.

Q.—Guns and munitions?

A.—The new Bren machine gun is now being produced in substantial numbers. Production of anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns is coming along satisfactorily. The light gun program, including production of ammunition will hit peak in midsummer. $380,000,000 has been advanced to private industry for plant expansion. Industrial payrolls have topped 350,000 jobs since the start of the war.

MORE AND MORE SHIPS

Q.—Is there hope for the ship-building program?

A.—Hope long delayed. Some 50 corvettes—the 150-foot "baby destroyers"—have been launched and keels are about to be laid for the first of the 96 new 9,000-ton vessels for the merchant marine.

Q.—How is labor reacting?

A.—Latest available figures were for February—showing, on the basis of man hours lost, that there were half as few strikes that month as in February, 1940. Since the start of war, wages and living costs have risen in almost the same proportion. Skilled labor is at a premium. Sky-high taxes prevent the accumulation of war fortunes and labor pretty generally is satisfied that it's getting its share. Moreover, Canadian labor is all-out to win the war.

The Canadian war effort was designed as an all-out job. Although it is well organized and functioning with surprising smoothness, it has not yet achieved full momentum. Every day it gains added momentum.

What Canada is doing and giving is a magnificent story of human endeavor, but in my opinion the greater story is still to come.

Out in the Open?

ALTHOUGH NO OFFICIAL OR SEMI-official pronouncement has come from either Berlin or Moscow, it is becoming fairly obvious that Hitler and Stalin are about to meet face to face—probably at historic Brest-Litovsk, where a famous double-cross was executed in November, 1917—to concoct new villainies. Preparations for this more open play between the subscribers to the pact of August, 1939, advanced a step further when M. Molotov surprised Yosuke Matsuoka with a neutrality pact between Russia and Japan which almost took Tokyo's Foreign Minister's breath away; for it is hinted that the Oriental missionary suggested to the chief of the Moscow government that Germany's ruler would like to talk to him—but until Stalin assumed leadership of the Communist state in title as well as in fact, the Fuehrer of all the Germans might feel obliged to observe certain state proprieties. So Stalin elevated himself to the Premiership of the Soviet domain last Tuesday. The stage would now appear to be set for the two to meet with equal official authority.

Yesterday's news from Moscow brought a series of denials about the disposal of Soviet troops—all to inform the world that Russia was engaging in no military movements calculated to embarrass Germany. Today's developments supply additional elucidation of the careful and precise phraseology employed in these assurances. Stalin's government has withdrawn its recognition from Yugoslavia, Belgium and Norway as sovereign states. If this announcement is to be taken at its face value—and Russian tactics in general since the carving of Poland and the invasion of Finland supports the contention—the supposedly friendly reference by the Russian press to General Dusan Simovic's coup d'état in Belgrade last month was merely another sample of totalitarianism's duplicity. Nobody, of course, has been lulled into the belief that Stalin's policy of playing both ends against the middle had been actuated by anything more than selfish expediency; if it has had the effect of causing some uneasiness or uncertainty in Berlin, as well it may, Nazi plans in the Near and Middle East may have suffered through delay in their operation and scope.

While United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull maintained until a few months ago his utter distrust of the Moscow government, he had warmed somewhat to Russia in recent days and had consented, albeit grudgingly, to certain exports of vital machinery to the Soviet domain. But only last week, Washington began to scrutinize licenses for such shipments with the object, of course, of defining materials previously ordered by Russia as vital to the national defence policy. This meant the virtual end of such transactions. As we suggested in these columns at the time, it was one way of "smoking" Stalin out, because the men of Moscow must be considered "potential enemies of democracy's cause." Whether the two dictators have now agreed to trust one another—whether they ever have or could—is beside the question. On one point they will probably agree: Britain's campaign in the Near and Middle East must be handicapped to the fullest possible extent. Only by executing such a movement will there be the maximum of hope of greater spoils to divide. No purpose would be served, moreover, in speculating on the amount of "Lebensraum" that would have to be acquired by Russia and Germany in that part of the globe to allow Hitler and Stalin to "rule" in mutual trust. The head of the Nazi domain will probably promise the man of Moscow Afghanistan and India and a few smaller morsels of territory. In the meantime, however, Britain and the United States will not be surprised at anything. They are preparing accordingly.

Ambassador On Tour

VISCOUNT HALIFAX IS GOING ABOUT his job of getting to know the people of the United States in a workmanlike manner. He is evidently confining himself to the facts of the conflict as he sees and understands them. Nothing in his remarks in Chicago yesterday or in his address to the Rotary Club of Minneapolis today savored in the least of telling our neighbor what she ought to do or how she could do it better than she is doing it; his answers to inquiring newspapermen at his press conference in the great Illinois city were as plain as the questions, themselves. Certainly, Britain needed war supplies, quickly and in volume, but "how you send them and how you get them there is your business." Had Britain ample man power? Replied the ambassador: "I think so; you don't want great numbers of men, but tiny, well-equipped formations." And he assured the Minneapolis service organization this afternoon that oil, copper and crude rubber are the "trump cards in the hands of freedom," constituting a challenge "to those doubting minds which cannot see certain assurance of the ultimate collapse and defeat of Hitler."

It was fitting that Lord Halifax's second address on his tour of the Middle West should have been delivered before such a body as Rotary in the land which gave birth to this important international movement. Small wonder, too, that he should have reminded his audience of its influence in the relations between nation and nation—borne out by its total "liquidation" in the Third Reich soon after Adolf Hitler instituted his repressive measures. Any habit of thought which tends to foster understanding and friendship between peoples of different tongues and aspirations is anathema to the totalitarian philosophy. This thrives on suspicion and hatred; despotic tyranny is the driving force generated in the Nazi mentality. But if such mutual improvement societies in the international realm of progressive endeavor as Rotary, Kiwanis, Gyro, Lions, and kindred women's organizations may not for the time being operate in lands under the Nazi heel, or in countries occupied and dominated by the Axis, there is all the more reason why bodies of this character should intensify their labors in this great continent of free men and free women. Because, as Lord Halifax this afternoon told the Rotarians of Minneapolis, the day must soon come when the Nazis will be no longer able to find fresh loot as they have found it in countries in which suppression has supplanted expression. When that day dawns, international service clubs will be put upon their mettle as never before.

That China 'Incident'

LEUT.-COL. JUNIO AKIYAMA, official spokesman for Japan's military forces in China, says the Japanese army simply "can't catch the Chinese," because "this continental arena is too large" and difficult for us "to run around it." He was commenting on an editorial in the Japan Times and Advertiser—organ of the Foreign Office at Tokyo—which argues that if Japan is unable to conquer China by force, some attempt should be made to seek a peaceful settlement. Colonel Akiyama, however, finds comfort in the hypothesis that "if the Chinese assume the offensive, we are confident we will be able to trap and annihilate them." But Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is addicted to the habit of doing just what the enemy does not appreciate—and doing it with remarkable and irritating obstinacy.

Akiyama need not apologize for the somewhat despairing note he has sounded today. None other than Premier Prince Konoye, as long ago as last January, assumed a "sackcloth-and-ashes" mien to assume full personal responsibility for the "China incident," both for the loss of human life and the vast and "continuous invasion of the imperial treasury." Though such a statement in itself might not have had much intrinsic importance, and might have passed more or less unnoticed, the fact that the head of the government candidly added that he saw "no sign of a solution" of the trouble imparted unusual significance to the pronouncement. And perhaps Colonel Akiyama realizes that the help which the United States is giving to China, and is about to give in fuller measure, will add to the difficulties of the Japanese who "can't catch the Chinese." President Roosevelt's personal envoy to Chungking, Mr. Laughlin Currie, has recently returned to Washington with up-to-date information on conditions in this "continental arena." And when bombs begin to fall on Tokyo, incidentally, fire-eater Matsuoka, as well as Premier Konoye and his military spokesmen, may chant an even more doleful tune.

Notes

If Hitler had to do it all over again, it would doubtless see to it that Hitler had a happy childhood.

War foresight displayed by some persons has been amazing. George W. Gray in the current Harper's, writing on War and Disease, reveals how U.S. Surgeon-General Thomas H. Parran Jr., began before Munich to buy up a stockpile of morphine to prevent the United States from running short should the poppyfields of Turkey, Persia and Arabia be blockaded by war. As a result, the United States now has a full three-year supply of morphine, stored in vaults in Washington, the same vaults used to store gold before it was shipped to Fort Knox, Kentucky. Today raw opium is virtually unobtainable. It is becoming more precious than gold as the need for it grows to relieve the pain of suffering men and women.

AND WE STILL APPEASE JAPAN

From Toronto Globe and Mail

A dispatch from Batavia in the Netherlands East Indies yesterday brought the sort of news that must fill with dismay all friends of the cause of freedom. It stated that British-American oil companies renewed their sales contracts with Japan, continuing under an agreement reached last November whereby Japanese oil supplies from the Netherlands East Indies are increased from 494,000 to 1,800,000 tons a year, with British and United States companies acting as importing agents.

This is the sort of thing that burns people up. Here is Japan, an avowed partner of Germany and Italy, conducting a campaign of wanton aggression upon China and making no secret of her desire to secure lebensraum by the conquest of the Dutch East Indies and British Malaya, not to mention the acquisition of Australia, which is provided for in the Axis peace terms recently made public by Mr. Matsuoka. Her chief weapon for an attack upon these regions would be her navy, which ranks in strength next to the navies of Britain and the United States. It is mobilized for aggression, and the only thing that keeps it from employing its power in further aggression is fear of the United States Navy, which is mainly concentrated in the Pacific, plus the warning of Secretary Stimson that America will not tolerate any change in the status quo by aggression.

DIRE FOREBODING

THEY TELL ME there is going to be an election in British Columbia this year, but nobody seems to get very excited about it any more. Provincial politics alas, appears to be one of the first casualties of the war and, considering its noble memories, this is too bad.

And what memories indeed! I am never tired of writing about them, as you may have noticed; never tired of remembering the days when we were shocked at liquor campaign funds and now have forgotten their existence, though there is no evidence of their disappearance; never tired of remembering the solemn fact (to which a monument should be erected somewhere on borrowed money) that in 1912, when I was a boy, we had no provincial debt, but money in the bank; never tired of recalling that the fate of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway seemed to involve the lives of us all and was good for half a dozen rousing elections.

They were better days, as I have always contended. Better before we knew so much, when our eyes were concentrated on British Columbia and we didn't have to look even as far as Ottawa, except to demand Better Terms. And don't imagine that all this happened long ago in some remote, barbaric age. Why, it was only eight years ago that our Legislature was dizzy with monetary reform and some responsible politicians were talking of establishing a Separate Economy in British Columbia and into every remote village prophets with long hair and wild eyes were carrying the fiery torch of National Credit, nobody knowing what it meant, but the sound was good.

ALL DEAD

DEAD, THOSE DAYS of innocence, all dead and gone forever. Liquor campaign funds gone, P.G.E. gone, beer-by-the-glass gone, National Credit gone. All gone from the public consciousness and yet all still going strong, just as if we had never worried over them. It almost makes you think that nothing in politics is worth worrying about. We get along somehow.

Now we turn towards another election. The signs of it, they tell me, are apparent already. Mr. Maitland is making speeches (which is suspicious), cabinet ministers are turning up casually in country districts and are prevailed upon, with not very much pressure, to make a speech, party branches in little towns are examining the voters list and trying to get the right sort of people to register.

By summer you will see overt acts. You will see meetings and nominations. You will find obscure men in obscure places suddenly seeing the Light and offering themselves for public office even though it means the sacrifice of their private lives. You will find them holding whist drives and dances in long-empty community halls, and good women will live up to their political principles by making sandwiches and cakes and coffee, in the little room behind the auditorium, to be gulped down by great country appetites at midnight before the drive home. You will find politicians speaking, arguing and finally dancing with stout farmers' wives all in support of their principles.

BRITISH COLUMBIAN

WHAT A SPLENDID pageant it is! What a peculiarly British Columbia phenomenon, suited to our soil, our climate and our temperament! Dour we are in British Columbia, as any politician will tell you, and silent. We seldom interrupt our public speakers and hardly ever applaud them. We sit like so many rows of dead mackerel in our seats, gazing at the poor statesman out of glazed and glassy eyes. Every politician coming here observes our surly silence, our deadpan look, our profound skepticism. It takes a lot to rouse us and most of our politicians are not equal to the job, so that politics here is a difficult practice and a great strain.

This year it will be especially difficult, for our minds will be elsewhere. There is, I regret to say, no politician in British Columbia who can compete in public interest with Mr. Hitler. If that politician would only stick to beer-by-the-glass and the P.G.E. and National Credit and to cake and coffee in the back room, what a different world this would be!

NEW WORLD

IT WILL BE a difficult election for other reasons. We have stepped from one world into another since the last election. All the old calculations are out of date, the old issues buried, the fine old rallying cries, slogans and insults forgotten. It is all new ground for the unfortunate politician. He cannot follow the old trails or rely on the old issues. He is in a dark jungle like Little Red Riding Hood with a big bad wolf waiting for him. Some of the older practitioners will hardly be able to survive in such unfamiliar surroundings. Some of the newer fellows, never having known anything else, will get along much better and will doubtless be elected though they have never heard of the P.G.E. or National Credit, nor drunk beer-by-the-glass except in a beer parlor.

I am sorry for them all and love them all very deeply, for a large part of my living has been made for quite a while now by writing their praises.

Parallel Thoughts

And he knelt down, and cried with a loud voice, Lord, lay not this sin to their charge.—Acts 7.60.

We read that we ought to forgive our enemies; but we do not read that we ought to forgive our friends.—Cosmos.

DISCOMBOOMERATED

LESS THAN ONE year ago—on May 28 last to be precise—President Roosevelt gave one of his characteristic interviews to the press. "There was no reason for the country to become 'discomboomerated' in apprehension of what may come to pass. The women of the country would not have to give up their cosmetics, lipsticks, and chocolate sodas in consequence of the preparedness program. . . . The present defence program was not to be compared with that of 1917. There was no thought in government today to revive the draft system, whether of men or money."

Franklin Roosevelt is a great man, with a fine mind and vision which will, in my estimation, rank him with Washington and Lincoln in the histories of centuries to come. He knows, better than most, that a foolish consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds. If reminded of the words above today I feel sure that he would not try to twist and turn or explain that he really had not meant to say just that.

I fancy that he would remark that the harsh events of the last year had "discomboomerated," infinitely more than the words, or ideas, or even promises of any statesman. Let us not fool ourselves. Far more than France fell in June of last year. The election pledges of political parties made prior to that time do not matter much now.

BUT ONE CHOICE

It was not Roosevelt, but Hitler, who made it necessary for the United States, for the first time in her whole history, to adopt peace-time conscription in preparation for probable actual war. Now, less than a year after the no-discomboomerated interview, it is crystal clear that the United States will have to choose, in ever-increasing degree, between peace-time production for such things as lipstick, chocolate sodas and toenail polish, and production for such war-time commodities as tanks and planes and bombs.

Last month the United States produced 1,498 airplanes, of which only about 58 were for civil purposes. A Beaverbrook paper in Britain guesses that the British production for March as 3,200. Wythe Williams—whose information has been amazingly correct in the past, for instance,

SIGNS AND PORTENTS

From Vancouver Sun

Our old friend, B. A. McKelvie, has just discovered that the Jews came first to British Columbia from China in the 13th century. It appears also that Coast Indians have a strong Gaelic background because a Welshman who arrived in these parts and spoke his native tongue was able to make himself understood.

For many years now Coast Indians, and especially the residents of Vancouver Island, have afforded Mr. McKelvie subjects for much interesting speculation. There was a time when he led a movement for a separate government for Vancouver Island; a divorce from the rest of British Columbia.

Last week in Courtenay Mr. McKelvie solemnly recanted that proposal. Like many other good citizens, Mr. McKelvie now thinks the Sirois Report offers a better solution than disunity.

ENGLISH-SPEAKING UNION

From B.C. Financial News

Advocates of Clarence Streit's idea of "Union Now" among the English-speaking democracies of the world are probably by now aware of the fact that circumstances are producing something very much like union, step by step, between the British Commonwealth countries and the United States. The trend has merely started.

The accord between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Mackenzie King arising out of recent Washington and Hyde Park conversations is historically of great moment.

In Shakespeare's counsel:

"There is a tide in the affairs of men which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune."

There is a tide flowing now in the affairs of men of the English-speaking world. If taken at the flood, it will lead to victory and to a saner, sounder peace after victory.

Forces of cataclysmic strength are loose in the world, working with great speed. We have no time to dilly-dally with old-fashioned, time-exhausting diplomacy but must reach a broad Anglo-Saxon understanding. If necessary, a form of political and economic union—and mobilize our immense resources first to oppose the enemies of all we treasure and then to create a world in which decency and light will have a sure and certain place.

Recent events may be read as clear signs of a tidal movement toward union of the Anglo-Saxon world.

on such things as the secret transfer of German troops to Libya, reports total German plane production for April as 6,720.

Regardless of the accuracy of the last-named figure, what is not even debatable is that the U.S. must produce and deliver far more planes if air supremacy is ever to be wrested from the Nazis.

All of which means showdown in the United States. For the office of war production now states clearly that it is impossible to step-up plane production much further unless there is a direct transfer of more and more manpower and machine power from civilian production to war production.

QUESTION OF TIME

The most obvious waste of war power, in the past, both in Canada and the States, has been in the motor industry. Obviously, the same men and machines could not at one and the same time be making next year's pleasure cars, and also next-year's armored trucks, and Bren-gun carriers, and tanklets.

As a matter of fact, our Canadian automobile factories have turned out an enormous volume of actual fighting vehicles, as well as tens of thousands of trucks and cars for the armed services. But the number actually so produced is small compared with what it could have been and would have been had war production been given the full-speed-ahead signal.

The probable "discomboomeration" of the toenail polish industry is not so imminent—though probably inevitable if the war lasts long enough. The chemicals used for painting toenails can, no doubt, also be used for making explosives or plastic parts for something or other to be devoured by the war machine.

In time the governments of all countries fighting the Nazis will get around to the toenails, just as they have already got around to putting their ban on more new car models for the duration.

Meanwhile, the fact to be faced is that till we "discomboomerate" Hitler and his gang and his system once and for all, the increasing "discomboomeration" of our own ways of life is inevitable. The sooner we get right at it, 100 per cent, the sooner we shall finish the job.

Murders Wife Then Kills Self

Special to the Times
CHEMAINUS—Andrew Frank, 26-year-old Indian longshoreman, shot and killed his wife, Emily, 23, here yesterday afternoon at 4.30, ran from the Chemainus reserve home of his father-in-law, August Jack, where he committed the murder, and shot himself fatally 300 yards away.
Constable Eldon McKay of the Provincial Police took charge of the killings in which jealousy was presumed to be the motive.
Two young children, as well as the wife's parents, survive.
The murder and suicide shook the reserve as the Indians were preparing to leave for Willow Island near Seattle, where they find seasonal employment as berry pickers. The murdered woman had worked on the island last year and was understood to have been making ready to go with others of the tribe to the small fruit farms again this year against her husband's wishes.
She was shot in a room of her parents' home, the first charge from a double-barrelled shotgun striking her below the left breast and the second in the right shoulder.

Frank was reported to have run from the house almost immediately towards the E. and N. railway line passing the reserve. About 20 feet from the crossing gate he stopped, reloaded the gun, knelt down with the muzzle under his chin and pulled the trigger.
An inquest will be held this evening by Coroner A. E. Green at the Chemainus police station.

War Savings Rally

Four films were shown at Sidney on Tuesday evening at a war savings rally attended by a crowd which packed the service club hall to capacity.

A group of women, headed by Mrs. Horth, decorated the hall for the occasion. A 28-piece Royal Canadian Air Force band provided music between the pictures. A member of the provincial war savings committee, Percy Richards, spoke briefly. One hundred dollars worth of war savings stamps were sold in a raffle.

French Still Want Liberty

Britain must be prepared to see eye to eye with France again unless the Europe of the future is to be just as troubled as it is today, Sir Robert Clive told the Rotary Club.

The British diplomat said the French would never give up the idea of liberty, and that France was the only European power that in common with Britain stood for liberty and individual liberty.

ALLIANCE OF 1914

Sir Robert traced Franco-British relations from the beginning of the 19th century. In 1904, he said, Britain and France had decided to seek an understanding, and from the entente signed then the alliance of 1914 had developed, which had continued until last June when France capitulated.

The diplomat said that it had been essential for the security of Europe after 1919 that Britain and France should develop an identical foreign policy. Several leading Frenchmen, he said, had favored a policy of force, while Britain and the Empire wanted a policy of conciliation and generosity to Germany through which they would try to induce Germany to become a democracy.

DIVERGENCE OF POLICIES

"Unfortunately," he said, "neither policy was adopted. Consequently you got a divergence of policies almost from the start."

Sir Robert declared that by 1936 Europe was already in rather bad shape, and especially France, where, because of the instability of the government the people had no confidence in it at all.

"Really in that year war became absolutely certain," Sir Robert said, "although unfortunately people in Britain did not realize that fact."

He said that the French had been apt to blame Britain for the situation because of the British policy of generosity, but that the British had been apt to blame the French for wanting a policy of force and not carrying it out.

After 1936, he declared, things became even worse in France, with the Socialist Blum government dividing France into two elements, one Communist and the other nearly Fascist, of which Germany took full advantage.

DISASTER TO BRITAIN

When war came and the Germans broke through, Sir Robert said, the myth of French army strength was exploded. The collapse of France was a disaster to Britain and Churchill made tremendous efforts to pull the French together, to ensure that the French fleet would not fall into German hands, and to persuade the French government to go to North Africa.

Sir Robert remarked that while in a sense the French had let Britain down, he imagined it was the British government's policy not to abuse the French and not to emphasize British grievances, but to do all possible to help the Free French, because France was bound to rise again.

WELFARE HOUSE IS RENOVATED

The building alterations within Welfare House, 1234 Pandora Avenue, were under discussion at the meeting of the board of directors of the Family Welfare Association this week. Mr. John Goldie and Mr. W. E. McMullen, the building committee, conducted the board members through the 19 newly-partitioned and renovated offices.

In June, Welfare House will be equipped to accommodate the Victorian Order of Nurses, as well as the present group of tenants, composed of the Children's Aid Society, the Community Chest, the Council of Social Agencies, the Social Service Index, the John Howard Society and the Family Welfare Association. A special vote of thanks was extended to the Building Committee for the work accomplished.

Mrs. A. Spurgin presented a report on the work of the association with regard to the group of English evacuated families who had applied for help in becoming more happily established in Canada for the duration of the war. It was felt that the citizens of Victoria should do all that was possible to show understanding friendliness towards these war guests, and to make them feel welcome within our midst.

The general secretary, Miss D. Yates, reported that during the month the staff had helped 113 families to meet difficulties of financial need or other trouble within the home. Of these families 27 had applied within the last month, the others having been previously known by the association.

The long and loyal services of Mr. and Mrs. James Pilgrim, resident caretakers of Welfare House, was noted by the board with appreciation.

Among the donations received during the month was a box of men's underwear from Gordon Ellis Ltd., and $20 from a friend of the association.

Young Nanaimo Singer Wins Championship

VANCOUVER (CP)—Adele Dunsmore, young Nanaimo singer, won the juvenile vocal solo championship at the British Columbia Musical Festival here last night.

In awarding her the championship Dean Arthur Collingwood, adjudicator, said she was "a most promising singer," and that she gave outstanding proof of her ability in respect of tone quality, good words and intelligent approach.

Madame Gertrude Huntly Green awarded first place in the Beethoven piano sonata class, under 17 years, to Michael Korner of Vancouver.

Mrs. Green said the class "has been a wonderful Beethoven class."

MUSICAL THEME AT CARNIVAL

Stalls representing popular song titles gave a novel touch to the annual carnival, sponsored by the A.Y.P.A., in St. John's Church schoolroom on Wednesday evening.

The hall had been decorated for the occasion under the direction of Helen Forsyth, Eileen Ellis, Lenora Trickett and Rosa Stone. A stall purveying miscellaneous articles was captioned "Strike Up the Band." Flowers were sold in a stall titled "In an Old Dutch Garden." Other stalls bore such names as "Sugar Blues," "Peg o' My Heart," and "The Little Gypsy Tea-room."

Music was provided through the courtesy of Jack Green, and arranged by Bob Gilchrist. During the intermission Arthur Jackman sang two selections, accompanied by Ian Galliford. The stage had been decorated by Violet Burchell to represent a pipe organ, since the general proceeds of the carnival were allotted to a fund for a pipe organ.

The carnival was opened by Rev. George Biddle. Appropriate signs and posters were painted by George Geddie and Wendy Perkins.

New Son Thrill For Ocean Pilot

Piloting a crippled bombing plane halfway across the Atlantic to a safe landing in Britain was a thrill for F.O. James J. Melke of Toronto, but a greater thrill was his arrival home in Toronto on leave this week and his introduction to his 18-day-old son. His wife, the former Catherine Carr of Victoria, met Melke in England four years ago and she came back to Canada two months ago to meet his parents for the first time.

F.O. Melke said, "It wasn't skill on our part, but just plain luck that brought the ship out of the uncontrolled spiral" after the big flying boat that he and five others were taking to England somehow lost its allersons high over the middle of the Atlantic. F.O. Melke, Grant Fleming of Calgary was the other pilot.

The plane fell 5,000 feet in eight seconds and was only 400 feet above the water when the dragging allersons by a fluke vi-braided into an equal position and allowed the plane to level off. Melke disclosed that other Canadians had a part in the epic flight. He said Ronald Hodgson of Vancouver and Charles Eyre, an Ontario boy, were members of the crew and did "splendid work" after the allersons fell off.

Vernon C. Woodward Given High Honor

Flying Officer Vernon C. Woodward, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Woodward, 1587, Fairfield Road, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, according to information received here from London.

The announcement said he had received the high award in recognition of his gallantry and devotion to duty in the execution of air operations.

Word recently came unofficially to Victoria that young Woodward had shot down nearly 20 enemy planes in the Middle East, where he was transferred from England in 1939. Last September Mr. and Mrs. Woodward heard their son had shot down five Italian planes over Libya, two in one day.

F.O. VERNON WOODWARD, D.F.C.

It is just three months since he was promoted from pilot officer to flying officer in the Royal Air Force. Born in Victoria, he attended local schools and left in March, 1938, for England to join the air force. After seven months' training he received his wings.

Receiving the Distinguished Flying Cross at the same time was Flight-Lieut. Lawrence Ellis, native of Chicago, whose mother lives at Sioux Lookout, Ontario.

QUALICUM FLIER WANTS MORE HEAT

R.A.F. DEPOT SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (CP)—Enviously watching Spitfires and Hurricanes looping and turning in the sky above them, hundreds of eager young Canadian airmen recently arrived from the Dominion impatiently awaiting posting to stations or to final training courses.

They came direct by train to this R.A.F. depot near London from the debarkation port. First few hours they spent getting accustomed to the blackout, undergoing gas tests and in routine administrative details.

Most curious wish was expressed by Sgt. H. Hibbard of Lachine, Que., a wireless air-gunner.

Sgt. Neil Arthur of Edmonton, also a "W.A.G." said he joined the air force because he wanted to see England.

F.O. G. A. Playfair of Qualicum Beach, B.C., spent his first night's leave in London.

"London is grand, but I wish they would heat their houses a bit more," said Playfair with a wry smile. "English girls are swell."

Since coming to Victoria he has worked for the Crystal Spring Company and recently has been an employee of the Victoria Machinery Depot.

Soldier Sourdough Looks Over Capital

A Yukon sourdough who came out of Dawson City to enlist in Canada's armed forces is visiting the capital this week and was greeted by Hon. W. J. Asselstine, Minister of Mines, who himself comes from northern B.C.

The visitor is Pte. O. Nordling of the R.C.A.S.C., stationed at Vancouver.

After a chat about mutual friends with the minister, Pte. Nordling was shown a travelogue film, "A Lin Gold," by the travel bureau.

Pte. Nordling is making his first visit to Victoria and he laughingly remarked that he no longer believed the story the streets were rolled up and put away every night at 9.

Anxious to Join R.C.A.F.

CALGARY (CP)—Western lads are anxious to get into the Royal Canadian Air Force according to two incidents related by recruiting officials here.

A letter from the town of Raley, near Lethbridge, asked for six application forms because there were six of the lads of the town who wanted to join the Air Force together.

While on a recruiting trip in B.C., Flying Officer G. W. C. Kinney, officer commanding the Calgary centre, was confronted by a lad 15 years of age who wanted to become a bugler. When told that he had to be 18 before he could be accepted, the lad was annoyed.

"I don't see why not, he said. 'My grandfather was a bugler in the South African war and he wasn't as old as I am.'"

Nazi Prison Food Awful, Says Soldier

PTE. GEORGE THOMPSON of Toronto, in letters received in Canada by relatives, described his escape from a German prison camp in France and his return to England by way of Gibraltar.

After breaking away from the camp he managed to get into unoccupied France, and four months later was successful in reaching Gibraltar, where he spent some time in hospital with a leg wound received in the Flanders fighting.

"The food they gave us in that German camp was awful," he wrote to his sister, Mrs. R. J. Doggett, and his fiancée, Miss Doris Cox, both of Toronto. "All we had for breakfast was a cup of black coffee without sugar or milk. It looked and tasted like coal dust screenings. For dinner we got boiled unsweetened rice, and for supper boiled lentils."

For the first 10 days after he was made a prisoner on July 9, he wrote, all they had to eat was biscuits and water.

Victorian's Grandson Killed in Action

Lieut. Sydney Paget, grandson of Mrs. James Cran, Roslyn Road, has been killed in action in the Middle East. He spent several years in Victoria as a boy.

Young Paget's parents were Major and Mrs. Rowland Paget, the latter a daughter of Mrs. Cran.

Lieut. Paget was educated at Eton and then went to the continent, studying languages in France and Germany. Shortly before he left England for the Middle East he was married. He fought with the Royal Sussex Regiment. He was a grandson of the late James Cran of Victoria and Lord Berkeley Paget.

Australians Form Spitfire Squadron

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Air Minister McEwen has announced an Australian Spitfire squadron is being established in Britain.

Although the squadron will include some experienced Royal Air Force men, during the early stages of formation, it will be distinctively Australian, he said.

The necessary ground and maintenance staff will be sent from Australia to make up the complete squadron.

Searchlights Need More Recruits

Victoria Troop, First Searchlight Battery, R.G.A. (R.F.), is calling for recruits. Men with electrical and mechanical training are preferred.

R.C.A.F. Changes

OTTAWA (CP)—Wing Commander J. L. Hurley of Fredericton, N.B., assumed command of the air station at nearby Rockcliffe today. He replaces Wing Commander W. I. Riddell, formerly of Frobisher, Sask., who will leave shortly to command the No. 7 bombing and gunnery school at Paulson, Man.

Soldiers Reach Coast

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Many of them surprised that "mountains and trees could be so big," the Edmonton Fusiliers reached new quarters here yesterday for specialized training. Led by Lt.-Col. Harry Strachan, V.C., they marched smartly down New Westminster streets to the martial tunes of a crack pipe band under Pipe-Major E. J. Peden.

INDO-CHINA SIGNS WITH THAILAND

TOKYO (AP)—French Indo-China and Thailand signed a peace treaty and three protocols today in a ceremony during which French Ambassador Charles Arsene Henry described Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka as a "peace-maker."

The peace treaty, arranged under Japanese mediation, includes an article stating that "if any dispute arises in the future concerning this treaty, it shall be submitted to Japan's mediation."

It also is provided that Thailand will pay Indo-China 6,000,000 piastres for ceded territory.

The peace agreement reached in Tokyo March 11 was changed in two essential respects by the new treaty, an announcement said.

The March 11 treaty placed the islands of Khong and Kohne, in the Mekong River where it marks the frontier between Thailand and Indo-China, under Thai sovereignty to be administered jointly by Thailand and France.

This new treaty, however, specifies that Khong remains under French sovereignty and that only Khone goes over to Thailand.

Another article provides that "Thailand may maintain only the police force and may not maintain fortifications or military aviation fields" (apparently in the ceded areas).

Border clashes between Thailand and French Indo-China broke out last September and continued with increasing violence until an armistice was reached January 31, after Japan had stepped in as a mediator.

PRESIDENT'S SON SEES IRAQ WAR

CAIRO (AP)—Capt. James Roosevelt said in an interview here that German airmen were reported flying American-made planes as part of the Iraq air force battling against Britain.

(His remarks were not amplified in the dispatch.)

The President's son, a war observer for the United States Marine Corps, arrived here yesterday by way of Basra, Iraq, where he got his first glimpse of the war in the Near East.

Shots echoed in the streets of Basra during his overnight stay, but he said resistance was not serious there.

"While the British seem to have the situation well in hand, the trouble in Iraq is deep-seated and is not likely to be cleaned up within the next few days," Roosevelt said.

He said he believed the United States could best aid Britain now by taking action which would relieve the situation here and in the Far East and by "taking full responsibility for getting supplies across."

Journey to War

Battle of Atlantic Key To Britain's Fight for Life

By PAUL C. SMITH
Editor, San Francisco Chronicle, just returned by clipper from London.

Regardless of the importance of the British struggle on other fronts, this year's most critical battle is taking place on the Atlantic ocean.

It is the phase of the struggle known as the "Battle of the Atlantic." Upon the outcome of the Battle of the Atlantic—more than any other front—hangs the fate of Britain.

Regardless of German successes on other fronts, Hitler cannot defeat the United Kingdom short of a crushing invasion of the Tight Little Isle.

A successful invasion is not likely so long as the magnificent British morale sustains the Royal Air Force in effective defence against full domination of the air by the Luftwaffe.

One of the essential underpinnings of this British morale is our promise that the United States will serve as an arsenal and a breadbasket from which the British may draw the energy for continued resistance.

U.S. AIR NEED

Despite the fact that the British have made vast gains in the organization of their own production, it is essential that American production actually and speedily supplement their capacity if Britain is to survive.

Furthermore, it is essential that lines of ocean transport be maintained, not only for delivery of finished American products, but for the sake of maintaining the constant line of supply of raw materials essential to Britain's own production.

Virtually every raw material that goes into war production, as well as the larger percentage of foodstuffs, must be imported to the United Kingdom.

This complex of facts has boiled down to the point that should Germany succeed in severing the life line between the Americas and England, she may well gain the air dominance that must precede the death blow in the form of crushing invasion.

NAVY'S ROLE

As things stand today, the Royal Navy does not guarantee to intercept a landing force, but they do guarantee, in collaboration with the R.A.F., to cut the communications behind any enemy force which effects a landing.

This places a large part of the burden of interception upon the Royal Air Force. It also imposes upon the R.A.F. the problem of maintaining sufficient reserve striking power to prevent the Luftwaffe from setting up a protective cover over the cross channel line of supply they would have to keep open following a landing.

To put it another way, effective defence against invasion depends upon R.A.F. maintenance of fighter plane supremacy as well as speedy increase in the hitting power of the Coastal Command of the Royal Air Force.

These, in turn, must be supported by the fighting spirit of the population itself, which spirit, in turn, can be sustained only by an adequate and continuous supply of war materials and food.

In other words, this means supplies and replacements from America.

ON MERCHANT MARINE

The burden falls finally, then on the British merchant marine, which must be sustained by the combined protective force of the Navy, the Fleet Air Arm and the Royal Air Force, as well as an Anglo-American shipbuilding effort which rapidly replaces losses.

The losses today are heavy. On the Atlantic, as well as other fronts, Hitler's Germany has turned the odds against the British. And unless American assistance speedily follows through to the logical extension, these odds may prove disastrous.

Germany almost won the last war by unrestricted submarine attack. This time the Nazis have accumulated a striking force on the sea and in the air such as has never before been in the possession of a continental power.

DIFFERENT TODAY

Furthermore, Germany today operates from Baltic, North Sea and Atlantic bases which were controlled continuously and exclusively by the Allies during the last war.

Britain is resisting the force of this striking power with a navy which is smaller than the Royal Navy of 1917. Furthermore, she is resisting alone.

The Royal Navy of today is doing a job which, toward the end of the last war, at the height of the submarine menace, was being done by the combined fleets of Britain, the United States, France, Italy and Japan.

The odds are tremendously against England in this Battle of the Atlantic. But I found in England nothing but stark realism in facing the fight, and nothing but cool determination to win it—against any odds.

RAYMOND DENIES URGING NEUTRALITY

OTTAWA (CP)—Maxime Raymond, K.C., Liberal, Beauharnois-Laprairie, Que., told the House of Commons last night he was not advocating a policy of neutrality for Canada in his speech to the House Wednesday—a speech which yesterday afternoon drew a reply from Justice Minister Lapointe.

Mr. Raymond said that in September, 1939, when the question of Canadian participation in the war was submitted to Parliament, he had advocated a "benevolent neutrality," and suggested that a plebiscite be taken.

His views were not accepted and Canada entered the war. At the March, 1940, general election the majority of the Canadian people had ratified that decision.

TO WHAT EXTENT?

"The question now is not one of neutrality but the degree of participation, and that is what I discussed yesterday," Mr. Raymond said in an answer to Mr. Lapointe's speech attacking his views on the war.

"This afternoon the Minister of Justice said that in my speech yesterday I still advocated a policy of neutrality," Mr. Raymond said. "He certainly misinterpreted my remarks. I consider that this matter has been decided already by the people of Canada."

Mr. Raymond reiterated his opposition to conscription, and asked "those who, like the Gazette of Montreal, persist in asking for conscription," to respect the sentiment of the Canadian people "so unequivocally expressed in voting against conscription" at the 1940 general election.

As Mr. Raymond sat down, Conservative House Leader Hanson said: "That is a good exhibition of crawling."

Karl Homuth, Conservative, South Waterloo, Ont., interjected: "Perhaps the Minister of Justice has something to say about that," and Mr. Hanson broke in again with: "Did the minister write the speech?"

Mr. Lapointe asked what Mr. Hanson was suggesting.

"I protest against those words," Mr. Lapointe said. "They are unequivocally untrue."

Weddings

LANNING—O'NEILL

At a quiet ceremony this morning at 11.30 at the Bishop's Palace, View Street, Rev. Father A. J. Monaghan solemnized the marriage of Drussella, daughter of Mrs. M. E. O'Neill, 938 Collinson Street, Victoria, and the late Dr. K. J. O'Neill, to Mr. Ralph Eric Lanning of Vancouver, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Lanning of Vancouver, B.C., and Weymouth, England.

The bride wore a suit of beige jersey, with large matching felt hat, all beige accessories, and a corsage bouquet of Talisman roses. She was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Gerald H. O'Neill, and her sister, Eileen, was the only bridesmaid, wearing a grey suit with white accessories, red sailor hat and a corsage of gardenias. Mr. Donald Smith, R.C.A.F., supported the groom.

After the ceremony the bridal party and immediate relatives, including the bride's mother wearing a navy and rose redingote ensemble and navy hat, and Mr. Ray Lanning of Vancouver, brother of the groom, partook of luncheon at the Empress Hotel, covers being laid for 12 at a beautifully decorated table.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Lanning left for Vancouver en route for a honeymoon at Harrison Hot Springs, before taking up their residence at Montclair Apartments, Oak Street, Vancouver. The bride donned a jaeger camel-hair coat over her wedding suit for traveling.

COWNDEN—LAWLESS

The marriage of Lucille Marie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lawless, 1059 Deal Street, and Mr. Arthur Cownden, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cownden, 919 Hillside Avenue, was solemnized by Rev. Father Monaghan at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning. Miss Marguerite McKay played the wedding marches, and the vocal soloists were: Mr. A. Cownden, father of the bridegroom, and his young son, Master Maurice Cownden.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin with full train and long pointed sleeves and an embroidered veil hung from a halo headress, outlined with orange blossom. She carried a bouquet of roses. Miss Ereda Webb was her cousin's bridesmaid, wearing a frock of mauve taffeta with full puff sleeves, and long yellow gloves, and pancake hat of yellow and mauve net and satin, trimmed with mauve flowers. She carried a Victorian posy. Mr. Walter Cownden was best man, and Mr. Joseph Haley was usher.

The wedding party returned to the home of the bride's parents for the breakfast, which was served at a table centred with the cake, flanked by vases of pink and white sweet peas and carnations.

Following a large reception in the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Cownden left for a honeymoon in Vancouver, the bride wearing a novelty nubby tweed beige suit flecked in varied hues, and red accessories. They will make their home on McGregor Avenue.

LEE—CORBLE

The United Church, Duncan, was the scene of a wedding last evening at 8, when Hilda Ada, younger daughter of Mr. W. F. Corble and the late Mrs. Corble, became the bride of Edward Henry Lee, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lee, Duncan. Rev. W. F. Burns was the officiating clergyman, and the service was choral, with Mr. P. R. Dobson at the organ. During the signing of the register Miss Elsie Hutchinson sang "At Dawning." The church was beautifully decorated by the Junior W.A. of which the bride was a member. Messrs. George Sanderson and Vernon Weaver acted as ushers.

The bride looked charming in an ice-grey blue ensemble, with rose flower bandeau hat and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas and lily of the valley. Her only bridesmaid was her cousin, Miss Irene Victoria Underwood, of Chemainus, wearing a sweet-heart blue ensemble, matching turban and accessories and Colonial bouquet of sweet peas. Mr. Horace Lee, the groom's brother, was best man.

After the ceremony a small reception for relatives and intimate friends was held at the home of the bride's father, at Somers, where Mrs. J. R. Underwood, aunt of the bride, wearing a rose ensemble dress with black accessories, and Mrs. E. W. Lee in an ensemble of lotus blue, with matching accessories, received the guests.

The young couple left for a honeymoon on the mainland, the bride donning a swaggy style coat in a cameo rose shade, with rose-colored accessories. On their return they will reside in Duncan.

Y.W.C.A. Workers in War Zone Doing Fine Work

A clarion call to the women of Canada, which had not yet been touched by the war to any great extent, to come to the aid of their less-fortunate sisters in war-torn Europe was sounded by Miss Ruth Rouse, world president of the Y.W.C.A. in an address at the senior club girls' banquet at the "Y" last night.

Miss Rouse gave a vivid picture of the work that the women in Britain are doing in the A.T.S., the W.R.N.S. and the W.A.A.F., auxiliary organizations to the armed forces, and stated that conscription of women power has now been brought into effect in Britain. The Y.W.C.A. found enormous work to be done in providing social, educational, spiritual and recreational activities for the thousands of girls and women employed in munitions works and other defence organizations.

'HOMES OF LIGHT'

The speaker told of the "Homes of Light," as the Y.W.C.A. huts were called, established in the various countries to help the waves of refugees which poured over Europe as each country became involved. The Y.W.C.A. had also gone to France with the British Expeditionary Force, and had looked after the women's auxiliary services, who were responsible for maintaining much of the telegraph and telephone communication system. Though all the equipment and the huts themselves had been lost in the evacuation, none of the Y.W.C.A. secretaries had lost their lives in France. In speaking of the recent bombings over England, Miss Rouse announced that the Y.W.C.A. house in London was still safe, having been directly hit only once, and then by a "dud."

In Bristol, however, a Y.W.C.A. hut had been completely demolished, when several secretaries and a number of the girls were killed.

MUST SINK PREJUDICES

All of these great undertakings imposed a responsibility on the more fortunate women of Canada, said Miss Rouse, and, while thanking them for what they had already done, she appealed for more funds to be sent to carry on this great humanitarian task. Now more than ever there was need to love, serve and understand in this war-torn world, and she appealed to each Y.W.C.A. member to set aside prejudices and petty hatreds in favor of a wider sisterhood of friendship, for on such foundations must be built a better, peaceful world.

Miss Rouse was introduced by Dr. Olga Jardine, "Y" president, and Mrs. K. Wright thanked the speaker on behalf of the gathering, about 160 club girls being present. Miss Kitty Cameron, president of the senior girls' council, acted as chairman and welcomed the guests. Miss Dorothy Beech, girls' work secretary, gave an interesting resume of the work of the various clubs, showing that all were active in their various fields and full of enthusiasm, many of them doing valuable war work in addition to their other activities.

PRIZE TABLE

The banquet tables presented a most attractive appearance, with floral motives as the theme, each club being responsible for entering one table in the decorated tables contest. In the decorated tables contest, which was judged by Mrs. F. A. Lindsay, Mrs. Richard Felton and Mrs. E. W. Hetherington, the prize was presented by Mrs. Hetherington to the Hi-Y Grads, and mention was made of the tables of the Versatile and Enterprise clubs. The attendance award went to the Y-Owenca Club, with 71 per cent present. Mrs. Ross Crane made the presentation. Mrs. Cushing presented an American three-triangle pin to Miss Charlotte Crawford for having sold the largest number of buttons.

Serving the guests were the members of the Victoria High School Hi-Y Club.

During the evening Miss Elaine Hart sang several solos, accompanied by Miss Audrey Mills, and Miss Daphne Gill gave an amusing novelty presentation.

Women and Schools Helping 'British Bundles' Effort

The "British Bundles" campaign is proceeding apace throughout British Columbia. Schoolchildren as well as residents in the cities and remote districts rallying splendidly to this effort on behalf of the bombed-out people of the Old Country.

At Langford, an energetic group under the auspices of the Canadian Legion and convened by Mrs. Alex Mackie, is doing a magnificent job for "British Bundles," collecting old garments and making them into the most attractive wear. Nothing is wasted that comes within reach of this busy little band. The legs of men's worn-out work socks are fashioned into dainty sweaters for babies, and men's coats are turned into pretty little frocks for girls, with embroidery and other little touches to appeal to small wearers.

FOR BRITISH TROOPS

In addition to its work for "British Bundles," the Langford group is finding additional vent for its patriotism by undertaking to send woolies, chocolates, cigarettes and other comforts to some of the British troops in Egypt. It appears that some of General Wavell's men, just arrived in Egypt from London, have been speaking with envy of the gifts received by Canadian soldiers in Britain from their womenfolk in Canada, and as many of the British troops come from homes hard hit by the war, they are not able to get the extras which mean so much. So the Langford women are going to try and remedy it for a few of them, at any rate, and in their headquarters at Langford, side by side with the "British Bundles" receptacle, is another box to receive donations destined for Egypt.

CHILDREN'S AFGHANS

Mrs. D. I. Jerv's, driver of the "British Bundles" caravan, who has recently returned from one of her regular trips to the mainland, found the children in the various schools splendidly organized to help the less fortunate children in the bombed-out areas of Britain. In addition to collecting clothes, the 1,400 children of the Strathcona High School, Vancouver, have a most industrious group knitting afghans and making over clothes to send overseas.

This is especially commendable in view of the fact that this particular school is one of many nationalities, less than 1 per cent being British-born.

Another school in Vancouver, Lord Kitchener, has already made 107 attractive handknitted afghans to send with the "British Bundles" consignment. Such work is excellent in itself and has the added attraction of encouraging a fine spirit of service among these citizens of tomorrow.

GETTING MARRIED?

by Susan Kingsley No. 9

The Wedding Ring

When, during the wedding ceremony, it is time for the ring, the best man gives it to the groom who passes it on to the clergyman. At the appointed moment, it is returned to the groom who places it on the third finger of the bride's left hand. Because it should not be put above the engagement ring, the bride either leaves her engagement ring at home or wears it on her right hand. Afterwards, she wears it above her wedding ring.

No wedding ceremony is complete without the ring—and no new bride feels that her home is complete without an adequate service of really fine flatware.

One of the nicest chests which silverware dealers have ever displayed is the new Vogue Tray Chest—now being featured from Halifax to Victoria. This particularly attractive model, lined with burgundy velvet, has a lift-out pad which increases its capacity. It's so smart you should see it today—particularly since it is priced at only $59.75. There are 51 pieces, providing a service for eight persons.

Every Community Silverplate design will thrill the bride, but we suggest that you see particularly the Coronation pattern—so different and yet in such good taste, it will always be fashionable.

"It's Smart to be Correct" is the title of a new 16-page, illustrated brochure on correct table service. Your copy is ready for you free if you visit your silverware dealer's and ask him for a copy.

P.T.A. NAMES ITS NEW OFFICERS

The annual meeting of the Sir James Douglas P.T.A. was held on Tuesday evening, with Mrs. H. J. Cunningham, president, in the chair. There was a record attendance and it was announced that the membership had grown to 178 and that the association had been presented with an honorary membership certificate, from the P.T.A. Federation, in recognition of its increased membership.

It was evident from the yearly reports of the various conveners that all had worked with enthusiasm and that much had been accomplished during the year; $25 had been donated to the Solarium; $15 for the relief of children in the bombed areas; back-drop curtains had been purchased for the school auditorium; $15 given for the purchase of magazines for the school; the yearly addition had been added to the Book of Knowledge for the school; the school nurse was given $40 for the dispensation of Christmas cheer; 50 per cent of the cost of a radio for the school was given, and all the ex-pupils of the school in the services were remembered at Christmas with a gift of cigarettes.

Mrs. Cunningham was re-elected president and presented with a bouquet of flowers in appreciation of her work.

Corsages were presented to Mrs. Aitken, refreshment convener, and to Mrs. A. Dowell, acting secretary, and a bouquet was handed to the treasurer, Mr. White. Interesting reports were read by delegates to the recent convention. Rev. N. J. Crees installed the newly elected officers.

The drama club of the school delighted the audience by presenting the play, "The Ex-Convict." Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. Hetherington Again President

Mrs. E. W. Hetherington was re-elected president of the Victoria Musical Art Society by acclamation at the executive meeting held following the annual meeting at the Y.W.C.A. on Wednesday evening.

Other officers chosen for the coming year are as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. J. O. Cameron; honorary vice-president, Mrs. Allon Peebles; first vice-president, Mrs. Edward Parsons; second vice-president, Mrs. F. G. Aldous; secretary, Miss Lora Blake; assistant secretary, Mrs. R. W. Hannington; treasurer, Miss Evelyn Brumpton; directors, Mrs. R. D. McCaw, Mrs. Llewellyn Jones, Mrs. Pierre Timp, Miss B. Griffin, Messrs. W. I. Anderson, Reginald Cox and G. H. E. Green.

Much satisfaction was expressed at the increase in membership during the year, and the recording of a substantial balance in the bank with which to start the new year, it being felt that such accomplishments were specially gratifying in view of the many demands being made by the exigencies of war.

The secretary's report noted that the opening and closing concerts of the season were given by out-of-town artists, the society following its practice of sponsoring local artists at the monthly concerts, the 15-minute recitals by outstanding members of the junior branches again proving popular.

The secretaries of the various junior groups gave reports showing constructive and interesting work under their group leaders. Outstanding were the numerous and varied concerts given at all the soldiers' camps.

At the conclusion of the business a program was given by members of the intermediate group. Vera Wood and Gwen Woolcock played piano duets; Shirley Gunn contributed a soprano solo; Patricia Straughan played a violin solo, and Robin Wood a piano solo. To these talented young people a vote of thanks was extended. A vote of thanks was also passed to Fletcher Bros. for permitting the use of their store on numerous occasions and to the local newspapers for courtesies extended.

These are the days when Canadians everywhere are thrilled to hear personal accounts of war work in the Motherland.

And such a story does Mrs. C. L. T. Arthur, wife of Col. Arthur, the first O.C. of Canadian General Hospital, No. 5, at Taplow, built by the Canadian Red Cross Society, have to tell. Col. and Mrs. Arthur are spending a few days in Victoria, guests at the Empress Hotel.

Mrs. Arthur organized the library at Taplow, which had 1,700 books when she left with her husband for Canada last February. Before organizing the library, after the hospital opened in July, she visited the library of the well-known Middlesex Hospital. The British Red Cross Society sent several hundred books and others were given by the publishers of the Penguin Books, The London Times, and many individuals. They are distributed to patients by conveyances on wheels called "book trolleys."

"The boys choose the books they wish to read," she said, "and these are wheeled to them by hospital visitors."

Hospital visitors, Mrs. Arthur explained, are women volunteer Red Cross workers who visit wounded or sick soldiers. At Taplow there are 17 visitors for the 500 or so patients.

"You have no idea what a comfort and help they are to sick and lonely patients. The boys tell them their troubles. In one case one soldier had been moved so many times he had not received mail. The hospital visitor was able to trace it. They shop for them and advise them. They also bring comforts, inclusive of Red Cross gifts—a package of 25 cigarettes or maple sugar, etc.—every week."

"They teach them handicrafts," she continued, "and you ought to see the beautiful articles made by them—belts, purses, pieces of needle-point with original designs."

Col. and Mrs. Arthur brought back with them a beautiful white wool rug, centred with the Dominion coat-of-arms—a gift to the Canadian Red Cross Society from the hospital patients.

ROYAL VISIT

Mrs. Arthur told of the visit of Queen Elizabeth, Princess Elizabeth and Margaret Rose. "We only had a 45-minute notice," she said. "It was a real friendly visit, with no fuss of any kind. Queen Elizabeth had a word or two with each of the 350 patients. She allowed them to take snapshots of the party. One man, who had taken a particularly good candid camera shot of Princess Margaret Rose, said he was so proud of it he would not care if he never took another picture."

Mrs. Arthur says there is a great shortage of current Canadian and American magazines and subscriptions to these would be welcome.

Col. and Mrs. Arthur expect to return to their former home in Winnipeg about the middle of May.

Rescued By Soldier

WEST VANCOUVER, B.C. (CP)—A soldier who gave his name as Fred Harvey and then disappeared early today rescued two women and two young girls from the steep roof of their home, where they had been driven by flames which started in the kitchen. The house was destroyed.

The four rescued were Mrs. Kenneth Greene, her daughter, Rachael, 25; Joan Cornwall, 12, and June Cornwall, 15. They suffered no serious injuries.

Harvey, waiting for a bus nearby, scaled a drainpipe to the roof and helped the women down a ladder raised by E. Robertson, a neighbor.

Realtors Claim Victoria Rents Pegged Too Low

Doubt that many owners would get much, if anything, out of their properties because of the manner in which rents were pegged was expressed today by retiring president J. C. Bridgman of the Real Estate Board of Victoria.

Mr. Bridgman delivered a report to the annual meeting of the board on behalf of the outgoing executive committee and officers. R. H. Shanks was installed at the meeting as the new president, H. D. Patterson as vice-president, H. A. Brown as second vice-president and Hubert Lethaby as secretary-treasurer for the 18th consecutive year. Other members named to the executive committee were J. C. Bridgman, E. F. Burton, M. K. Crockett, W. H. Davies, J. Forman and H. C. Holmes.

Rents were abnormally low in Victoria when the war started, Mr. Bridgman said in his report, and by the end of 1939, when rents were pegged, few had been raised.

"Costs of repairs have gone up," said Mr. Bridgman, "and a new tax on gross rentals is now imposed on nonresidents. In the matter of price control, house owners suffered more than any other class."

NO OVERBUILDING

Measured by the present demand for houses, Mr. Bridgman declared, there was not yet any sign of overbuilding in Victoria. He added that investors in residential properties should try to estimate to what extent the readjustment of population after the war would affect their investments.

"It is very desirable that every capital expenditure which it is possible to postpone should be put off till after the war is over," said Mr. Bridgman. "To have a lot of such postponed work that can be put in immediately after the war will greatly help in the period of transition, and then probably more can be got for the same money. To avoid competing with the federal government for men, materials and money during the war will greatly assist the government at the present time. Provincial governments, municipal councils, company officials and private persons should constantly have this in mind and try to help in this way."

BETTER APPEARANCE

Mr. Bridgman commented on the improved appearance of the city during the past year, due largely to the building of large numbers of attractive small houses and the removal or improvement of many older ones, and also to the work of the parks commission. He congratulated the city lands department on the success of land commission efforts to replace reverted lands on the taxing list, and noted that the forestry department had made an increase in its reforestation work, but that the year's work would have to be increased several-fold to equal the average annually depleted by logging and fires.

"It is greatly to be hoped," he said, "that the forest industries upon which our prosperity and means of giving employment so largely depend may eventually be established on a permanent basis."

SALES GOOD

Mr. Bridgman said that the number of sales during the past year had been satisfactory, although business and farm property had been inactive.

There had been a hint that the federal government would enter the succession duty field of taxation, Mr. Bridgman said.

"If this leads to the provincial government vacating this field," he continued, "and does away with the necessity of proving a will in every province where property lies, and the payment of duties to more than one province, it will be a blessing."

Mr. Bridgman said that the work of H. D. Patterson and a committee in an effort to relieve parking congestion in the business area had been effective and appreciated.

Membership in the Real Estate Board stood at 56, Hubert Lethaby said in his annual report as secretary.

"It is hoped that our membership will continue to expand," Mr. Lethaby declared. "There is really no reason why it should not be materially increased. The larger and stronger the roster is, the more weight our organization will prove to exert, particularly in taxation matters."

No Montreal Release

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec's Legislative Council, provincial upper house, rejected by a vote of 8 to 4 a motion urging that control of the city of Montreal be taken from the Quebec Municipal Commission and be given back to the mayor and civic council.

During the last session the Legislature, in an attempt to regulate Montreal's financial difficulties, gave the commission control of the city's financial affairs, and changed the civic council from a mayor and 35 aldermen to a mayor and 99 aldermen. The mayor and members of a six-man executive committee are the only members who receive remuneration for their services.

SALVATION ARMY OFFICERS—Major and Mrs. Allan McInnes are the new officers of the Salvation Army Broad Street Citadel, succeeding Adjutant and Mrs. Charles Watt, who have been transferred to Calgary, Alta. Major and Mrs. McInnes came here from the Mount Pleasant Corps, Vancouver.

Sooke Welcomes New Minister

SOOKE — Forty people were present at a reception held at the Knox Presbyterian Church last Monday evening in honor of Rev. Mr. Munroe and Mrs. Munroe. Mr. Munroe recently took over the pastorate of Knox Church on the retirement of Rev. S. Lundie. Rev. Mr. Lundie extended a warm word of welcome to Rev. and Mrs. Munroe and expressed the good wishes of those present. During the evening solos were rendered by Mrs. P. Wadams and Rev. Munroe, accompanied on the organ by Miss A. Milne. A humorous reading was given by Rev. S. Lundie and a competition was held. Mrs. P. Wadams winning the prize. Refreshments were served by the members of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Over All Lines

"Wake-up" telegrams have been instituted in Minneapolis for those who like to "linger longer" in the morning. Some people order two delivered at 15 minute intervals in case they drop to sleep after the first. One girl ordered seven delivered at intervals. She had been celebrating her last "bachelor" dinner and didn't want to be late for her wedding.

In Nebraska, 77-year-old Mary W. Bates sued her husband for divorce. In the property settlement he got the family dog house.

Joan Crawford in New York got stuck on how to finish a sweater she was knitting. She telephoned Hollywood, with toll charges that sent the ultimate cost of the sweater skyrocketing.

CHILD MARRIAGES

When Port Arthur, Texas, school trustees checked the High School register the other day they learned 15 pupils were married. There was nothing they could do about it except record official discouragement, as child marriages have a bad effect upon other pupils.

Case of 25-year-old Robert Clark, Canadian at University of Washington in Seattle reveals Canadians across line have two choices if drafted. They can join the American or Canadian forces. Both draft cards are legal.

Capt. Jimmy Roosevelt, who will next go to Cairo, Egypt, will wind up his voyage as an attaché of the U.S. embassy in London.

PROVES IT BY FIGURES
Charles T. Nounan literally figures out why the dictators will topple in 1941. Here's how he does it:

British prisoners of war in Germany are studying to become doctors, dentists, lawyers and surveyors. Canadians held as prisoners may also soon start equipping themselves for civilian life with Canadian Legion courses.

MORE SPEAK ENGLISH

More people in the world speak English than any other language, 220,000,000. The German language is next with 90,000,000 speaking it.

Sixty days was the sentence imposed on Susanne Bial, a German refugee in Glasgow, for showing a light from her torch while enemy airplanes were overhead.

Bells from a bombed London church have been placed in Guildford Cathedral, but will not be rung till after the war—except as an invasion warning, if necessary.

NEW PETTICOAT LANE

Strange bargains ranging from gas water heaters to picture frames are disposed of at almost daily sales at a huge dump on the fringe of London where goods salvaged from bombed houses are sold.

Its own mouth-organ band with every unit on the march is the aim of Major A. R. Jones, chief entertainments officer of the northern British command.

25 Years Ago

MAY 9, 1916

The bronze statue of Queen Victoria, executed in England by Mr. Bruce-Joy for the grounds of the Parliament Buildings here, has now been placed in the Royal Exchange, London, where it will remain until the end of the war.

At 915 Moss Street, the residence of Mrs. J. D. Helmcken, a reception was held to honor Mrs. Douglas Bullen, who is on the eve of leaving for England to join her husband, who went away with the 67th battalion.

The marriage took place yesterday at St. Mary's Church, Rev. G. H. Andrews officiating, of Miss Florence Hill of Victoria and Herbert Brazier, late of the 88th battalion and Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, who was wounded exactly 12 months ago at Ypres.

EX-DEPUTY'S TRIAL STARTS IN FRANCE

VICHY (AP)—Pierre Mendes-

France, third of four French notables with military commissions among those arrested for trying to move the government to north Africa last June, appeared for trial today before a military tribunal at Clermont-Ferrand.

Mendes-France, former under-secretary of state, was arrested at Casablanca, French Morocco, after arriving with other deputies and government leaders. He was indicted on charges of desertion in wartime and is liable to the maximum penalty: ten years' imprisonment, confiscation of his property and loss of civil rights.

Two others arrested with Mendes-France, Jean Zay and Pierre Viot, were tried previously. Zay was exiled and Viot given a suspended sentence of eight years. A fourth, Alexis Wiltzer, remains to be tried. All were deputies and all held military commissions, thus making them subject to military courts.

By PETE SALLAWAY

WILBUR SHAW will whirl around the Indianapolis motor speedway May 30 at 130 miles an hour in his 13th appearance in the 500-mile race.

Shaw takes the Big 13 in stride. The home-grown flier does not hold much with superstitions of the bricks.

A year ago, when Shaw told his chief mechanic, Cotton Henning, to paint a big No. 1, long considered a hoodoo by many, on the hood of his sleek Maserati, he remarked:

"I'm driving an automobile race, not playing a numbers game."

"If I'm going to win I can do it whether the car carries No. 1 or 13."

Shaw demolished two jinxes last May.

In addition to carrying the supposedly bugaboo No. 1 on his Italian-built car, he became the first man in the history of the course to come down in front two years consecutively.

As though this being his 13th start wasn't enough to contend with, Shaw is shooting for his fourth victory, and not daredevil has ever accomplished.

He also is attempting to bag top money for the third time in a row.

Other drivers testify that No. 1 is bad news.

Only once before, since 1911 when the annual grind was started, has the victor's mount borne No. 1. That was in 1923, when Tommy Milton beat out such luminaries as Ralph DePalma, Dario Resta, Jimmy Murphy and Harry Hartz.

Ralph Mulford declined the No. 1 in '12, DePalma in '15 and Milton in '22. It didn't help Mulford, who wound up 10th.

It worked for DePalma, after he bagged the AAA crown in '14.

The Italian swapped with Howdy Wilcox for No. 2. He copped the glue. Wilcox wound up seventh. Wilcox was burdened with No. 1 in '20 and ran only 160 miles.

The jinx against winning twice in succession got Milton. He lasted only 110 miles, but a year later scored with 1 daubed on his steel horse.

Louis Meyer twice finished second in the No. 1 car—in 1929-'30, but did not succeed in bunting two victories.

Bill Cummings suspected the No. 1 kept him from winning in '35, which would have been his 35th straight.

Tragedy has slid along with the hoodoo No. 1.

Big Floyd Roberts had a big black 1 on his special in 1939, when he crashed into another near the 250-mile post and was killed as he roared along in a determined effort to repeat his victory of the year before.

The No. 1 hex, at least, would not annoy Shaw this trip even if he took any stock in the bugaboo business. His car will carry No. 2. Car numbers are assigned by the contest board of the American Automobile Association on the basis of national ratings in the previous year.

Rex Mays will be No. 1 on this occasion.

Though he placed second to Shaw in the 500 last year, the California Cannon Ball competed in other races and won the U.S. championship. Shaw did not participate in any other event other than that in Indianapolis. His victory there alone was enough to give him runner-up points.

But if Shaw was entitled to No. 1 he would smear it on the hood of his creation without the slightest hesitation.

Wilbur Shaw doesn't think of bugaboos before a race and has not time to do so once the flag is dropped.

Oak Bay Will Play Seattle

First half of the annual inter-city match between teams from the Victoria and Seattle Golf Clubs will take place tomorrow at Oak Bay. This competition was first played in 1903. Oak Bay won last year.

Second half of the match will be played at Seattle in June. Singles will be played in the morning and fourballs after lunch.

Draw, with the Seattle players first named, follows:

20 SWIMMERS REPRESENT CITY

Although Vancouver sent no mermen or mermaids to the recent B.C. swimming gala at the Crystal Garden, Victoria swimmers will be creating foam and froth in the terminal city's Crystal Pool when that metropolis holds its half of the championships tomorrow night. Twenty swimmers, representing the Y.M.C.A., the V.A.S.C. and the Navy will take the midnight boat this evening.

Gordon Lawrence will be the only naval representative at the meet. From the "Y" will go Macrina Bothe, Betty Pritchard, Dottie Jasper, Aileen Smyth, Joan Morgan, Hugh Reston, Bob Montgomery, Bob Johnstone, Don Smyth, Peter Salmon, Wade Hansen and Ron Neilson. Seven water racers will represent the V.A.S.C. These are Jean Dyer, Molly Leiper, Ann Greenwood, Margaret Cook, Ruth Ball, Pearl Collier and Ken Hurn.

Officials also have requested that all contestants report at the boat at 10:15 this evening.

Mud for Pimlico?

Probable Field

BALTIMORE (AP)—Rain "goosed up" Pimlico's racing strip today for the second time in 36 hours as the entry box opened for filling of the hopefuls for tomorrow's 51st running of the $50,000-added Preakness Stakes.

The first horse entered was the rank outsider and surprise starter, Kansas, from the Millsdale Stable of Tony Pelleteri of New Orleans, and Mel Emerich of Chicago.

Two of the recognized speed horses of the field, Mrs. H. C. Phipps' King Cole and Robert J. Kleberg Jr.'s Dispose, were next in line. These two are expected to set the early pace in the mile and three-sixteenths gallop.

Whirlaway, the unpredictable colt from Warren Wright's Calumet Farm, rules a heavy favorite to take the Preakness.

Probable field follows:

Horse	Jockey	Owner	Prob Odds
Whirlaway	Eddie Arcaro	Warren Wright	1-1
Porter's Cap	Buddy Haas	Charles S. Howard	4-1
Our Boots	Conn McCreary	Royce Martin	6-1
Curious Coin	Irv Anderson	Coldstream Stable	7-1
Ocean Blue	Ira Hanford	Crispin Oglebay	8-1
Dispose	Carroll Bierman	Robert J. Kleberg	12-1
King Cole	Porter Roberts	Mrs. Henry C. Phipps	20-1
Kansas	Henry Mora	Millsdale Stable	50-1

'See You Next Year'

Hank Greenberg waves farewell to baseball for year. Detroit's famous home run hitting outfielder, voted most valuable American League player in 1940, was inducted into the United States Army this week. He left baseball in a blaze of glory hitting two home runs in his last game.

Ball Game Tomorrow

Teams Look Good

Baseball will make its first appearance on the summer sports calendar tomorrow afternoon at the Athletic Park when the Eagles and Pitzer and Nex usher in the schedule of the Victoria Senior League.

Usual opening ceremony will be staged with Mayor McGavin scheduled to heave the first ball at 3.

Eagles are being managed this season by Charlie Strouger, former infielder. He stated to-day either Stan Davies or Russ Richardson will work on the mound for the lodgemen, with Rex Patterson behind the plate. Eagles have grabbed off a couple of likely-looking new players in Stew McNeill of Vancouver and George Syrotuck of Chemainus.

Soose Gets Title Chance

Favored Over Overlin

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Soose gets a chance to settle an argument tonight, and if he settles it in favor of Billy Soose he will leave Madison Square Garden with the title of world middle-weight champion, New York sub division.

The Farrell, Pa., lad meets champion Ken Overlin over the 15-round route, and betters have made the challenger a 5 to 9 favorite.

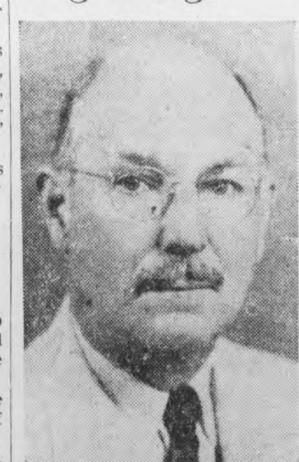

This favorite position is due largely to Soose's superior punching power, and to the fact that in a nontitle bout last summer he was awarded the decision over the champion.

Overlin is convinced he was robbed in that previous meeting, and he blames Soose's manager, Paul Moss. He plots to get revenge on Moss by handing Soose a fight a handmade lacing. Many experts think the odds

Rampaging Brooklyn Dodgers Take Lead

Set Down Cards in 12 Innings

The Swashbuckling Brooklyn Dodgers have taken complete command of the National League and right now are hot enough to singe a sheet of asbestos.

They have faced every other club in the circuit at Ebbets Field during their last 15 games and won 13 of them. They captured three or four from the world champion Cincinnati Reds last week and they swept a two-game series from St. Louis Cardinals.

The climax of this sensational stand against all opposition came yesterday in the shape of a 5 to 4 12-inning triumph over the Red Sox while a crowd of 32,039 swayed between hysteria and boredom.

They set off a lot of fireworks at the start as the Dodgers punched out a four-run lead in the first two innings and lost it in the next two. Then Mort Cooper and Kemp Wicker, Brooklyn relief worker, settled down to a dull, airtight pitching struggle for seven innings until, with two out in the 12th, Joe Medwick beat out a single to third baseman Jim Brown and went all the way to second as Brown overthrew first. Then Cookie Lavagetto, who had doubled two runs across in the first, singled Medwick home.

PLAY BAD BALL

The victory gave the Dodgers a game and a half margin in first place. St. Louis outfielders collided on two different fly balls and the infield proved porous.

The Dodgers move to Philadelphia today and from there will head right on out west with the other eastern clubs Monday. The Dodgers were the best road team in the league last year, winning 47 and losing 28 away from home.

In the only other game in the senior circuit yesterday Verne Olsen scattered 10 hits and smacked a three-run homer to lead Chicago Cubs to a 5 to 1 decision over the Phillies. The only run against him was a round-tripper by Danny Litwhiler in the eighth.

In the American League New York Yankees took another cut out of Cleveland Indians' lead with a 5 to 4 victory in a slug-fest session that included 13 hits for New York and 11 for the tribe. Big Red Ruffing hit a home run, a double and a single to bolster his own pitching and received credit for the victory although fireman Johnny Murphy had to help out with three and a third innings of shutout relief pitching.

This left the Indians 2½ games in front of the Yanks whom they will meet again in two games in New York next week when the western clubs invade the east. Washington Senators muzzled Detroit Tigers 7 to 1 with a 14-hit offensive to back up the six-hit hurling of Steve Sundra. Cecil Travis supplied a home run and a triple for the Senators. It was the fourth loss for Buck Newsom, who lasted only till the fourth inning.

Pete Suder hit a home run with two on in the eighth inning to provide Philadelphia Athletics with a 9 to 6 margin over St. Louis Browns. Bump Hadley, one-time Yankee, who won one game in the National League for New York Giants last month, made his first start since returning to the junior circuit and was credited with the victory although relieved in the ninth. He served two home-run balls to George McQuinn.

COAST LEAGUE

It grows increasingly apparent that if rival coast leaguers, individually or in combination, are to stop the front-running Sacramento club, they must devise some method of checking—or matching—the Sacramento runners.

Not in many seasons has this far western loop seen such speed as distinguishes the Sacramento runners in their circuit of the base paths.

The collective opposition is just plain worried—and admits it—especially when confronted with a display like that of Bobby Blattner last night in the Solons' 8 to 3 win over Oakland. The 21-year-old second-sacker stole four bases. Specifically he stole three in the eighth inning alone, singling to reach first and then completing his course back to the plate without external aid. Such feats as Blattner's expected, Seattle's 9 to 1 victory over San Diego last night virtually duplicated the Sacramento win.

San Francisco stopped Portland, 6 to 2, while Los Angeles outlasted Hollywood, 10 to 8, in a 27-hit affair involving seven pitchers.

Jokers Make Boxla Debut

The Jokers step onto the stage tonight to do battle with James Bay in the second game of the local 1941 boxla season. Although many followers of this somewhat rugged sport are of the opinion that the blackshirt crew is doing nothing more or less than prostrating itself on the sacrificial altar to satisfy the ravenous appetite of Ted Menzies' well-balanced run, pass, bump and shoot aggregation, Gus Munroe, member of the Joker team and some outsiders who have seen these boys practicing are whispering a different story.

The underdog team, which spent the whole of last season exploring the nether depths of the league cellar, has some new stick wielders on the line-up. In any case Gus Munroe, whose middle name is optimism as far as the Jokers are concerned, is quite sure that it won't be a disappointed lacrosse gallery that leaves the battle scene this evening.

At 7, an hour and a half before the start of the main struggle, Douglas Tire and Heaney's will go at it. The latter team is a new addition to the junior league, most of its players having been drawn from last year's Oak Bay juvenile team.

Players who will scuffle in the main game follow:

Jokers: Skellern, Uttke, Allen, Coleman, Ludbrook, Andrews, Paul, B. Mair, W. Mair, Pridham, Card, MacKay and Caydzien. Bays: A. McKim, R. Mason, E. McKim, T. McKeachie, E. Ball, J. Sargent, R. Wallace, S. Anderson, A. Cullin, R. Baker, A. Chapman, F. Doheny and W. Gornall.

Conscript 16 to 45

Conscription for military service has been extended to include all Belgians in Canada between the ages of 16 and 45, it was announced today by L. J. Eekman, acting consul for Belgium, 40 Wellington Avenue. Previous exemption for physical disability does not exempt them from the new order. All Belgians born between January 1, 1902, and December 31, 1921, must register at once for service with the nearest consul, Mr. Eekman said.

Cardinals Have Fine Mound Crop

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Manager Bill Southworth of the ram-paging St. Louis Cardinals is having trouble turning loose players—especially pitchers—in order to meet the National League limit.

He has so many sensational rookie twirlers—including several from Houston—he's talking to himself.

Well, Billy doesn't know the half of it.

If the Cardinals wanted to reach down to their farm club here they could bring up another flock of youngsters who are sending the Buffs along at a merry clip on top of the Texas League.

For instance, Freddie Martin, Howard Pollet and Ted Wilks have each won four straight. John Pitrer has won three, while losing one.

Pollet, valued by president Fred Ankenman at $51,000, tied the league record for shutouts with three straight this season. The 19-year-old southpaw already held the consecutive game winning record, set last year at 13. This year he already has one no-hit, no-run game to his credit.

All four may be with the Cardinals next season, giving Southworth another headache when pruning time comes.

A cow will graze only about eight hours in 24, regardless of how good the pasture is, so Cornell University scientists have found.

Quilty Receives Calder Trophy

OTTAWA (CP)—President Frank Calder of the National Hockey League last night presented the Calder Trophy, awarded annually to the N.H.L.'s outstanding rookie, to Johnny Quilty of Ottawa, a star in his first season with Montreal Canadiens.

Calder made the presentation at a banquet given in Quilty's honor. More than 300 persons attended, including coach Frank Boucher of New York Rangers.

"Ottawa is steeped in hockey tradition," Calder said in presenting the trophy. "Ever since Lord Stanley, then Governor-General of Canada, decided to present a cup to the league champions, Ottawa teams or Ottawa players have had something to do with winning it."

"Lady Byng, who followed hockey so closely in Ottawa, put up a trophy known as the Lady Byng Trophy, and it was won as often by one Ottawa athlete — Frank Boucher—that she decided to let him keep it and present another."

(The Lady Byng Trophy is awarded each year to the league's most gentlemanly player.)

In accepting the trophy, Quilty said he thought coach Dick Irvin and his teammates with Canadiens deserved credit for the "help and encouragement" they had offered.

Boucher spoke briefly, saying he was sorry Quilty could not "win the Lady Byng Trophy as well."

Quilty also received a wrist watch, a set of golf clubs, a handsome traveling bag and an alarm clock from admirers.

Canadians Take Baseball to Eton

ETON, Eng. (CP)—The Canadians brought baseball to the playing fields of Eton.

As top-hatted Eton schoolboys stood around in pop-eyed amazement, soldier-ballplayers from a western Ontario infantry regiment of the 2nd Division played a rousing few innings, clouting the ball around a famous cricket pitch.

Etonians quickly caught on to the idea of the game and after the first innings well-mannered English voices discreetly cried, "Well played, sir," when a Canuck poled a double into left field by the cricket pavilion. But it was nearly drowned out by the rough diamond chatter of the troops.

This was the first time in this war Canadian soldiers have been to Eton School, going there to give a Bren gun carrier demonstration to the college's cadet unit and staying to play ball on the historic fields.

During the visit the troops were bivouacked in Windsor Great Park in the shadow of Windsor Castle.

BILL DALE WILL RACE TOMORROW

PULLMAN (AP)—Washington State College sent a 19-man track and field team west last night for the dual Varsity meet with the University of Washington at Seattle tomorrow.

Coach Jack Weiershauser said Bill Dale of Victoria, B.C., W.S.C. captain and Pacific Coast half-mile champion, was out of condition because of an ailing leg, but would compete in both the mile and 880.

The sophomore sensation, Pat Haley of Trail, B.C., will run three events, the 100 and 220-yard dashes and low hurdles.

WOMAN OF 78 SPRY AS A CRICKET

Feels More Like 48
Aches and pains are not inevitable in old age. When they do come, there is always a cause for them. Here is a little lesson on growing old, by a woman of 78:—

"For the last five years I have taken Kruschen Salts and I tell you truthfully I could not live without them. I am 78 years old. I have hardly a pain in my body, and I feel almost as young as I did at 48. I give the credit to Kruschen Salts. No one will believe my age."

—(Mrs.) C. M.
Most people grow old long before their time because they neglect one vital need of health—the need for internal cleanliness. Eventually they start the Kruschen habit. Then, probably for the first time in years, they start getting rid every day of all waste matter from the system. They begin to feel energetic and happy. In a word, they've got that "Kruschen Feeling."

A fighting plane that climbs more than 5,000 feet upward in one minute is among American war products.

Gibbs added he is negotiating for title bouts for Petrin with Johnny Gaudes of Winnipeg and Vancouver's Ken Lindsay, claimant to the world bantamweight crown. The 23-year-old French-Canadian has not defended the title since winning it January 28 with a five-round knockout over Alex McCullough of Hamilton.

Petrin, Dominion bantamweight champion, has signed to fight Nels Broadhead of Hamilton in an eight-round overweight semifinal at Toronto, Monday, manager Sammy Gibbs announced today.

Gibbs added he is negotiating for title bouts for Petrin with Johnny Gaudes of Winnipeg and Vancouver's Ken Lindsay, claimant to the world bantamweight crown. The 23-year-old French-Canadian has not defended the title since winning it January 28 with a five-round knockout over Alex McCullough of Hamilton.

Appreciation for services given throughout the season were rendered to W. J. Pynn, lower island commissioner; Brother C. A. O'Donnell, secretary, Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Association; Pat Mulcahy, member of the association; Edgar Borde, A. litor.

Start Excavating For V.M.D. Shipways

Preliminary work leading to the creation of a vast new ship-building plant in the Outer Harbor has been commenced by the Victoria Machinery Depot Ltd., which has a contract with the Dominion government for the construction of 10 steel cargo ships, costing $18,000,000.

The total contracts for cargo freighters placed with Victoria aggregates $36,000,000.

Yarrows Ltd. of Esquimalt will build the other 10 ships, all of which will be of 9,300 tons register.

"Two building ways will be built at the present time, with the possibility of two additional ways later on," said Herbert S. Hammill, manager of the V.M.D., this morning.

"We expect to have the ways completed by July 1, by which time we hope everything will be in readiness for the keel laying." The excavation contract to prepare for the laying out of the building berths has been given to Evans, Coleman and Johnson.

The company's caterpillar steam-shovel is scooping away the earth to provide a level grade to the water's edge just east of the old Rithet dock sheds. The concrete wall at the foot of the shipways will be removed to make way for the building slips.

Part of the R. P. Rithet docks, which were purchased by the shipbuilding company, are already being prepared for fitting out as construction sheds to house the varied trades going into construction of ships.

Other buildings are in course of erection on the waterfront property recently purchased by the V.M.D. from the city.

Services Plan Band Concerts

Bands of the navy, the army and the air force will provide summer concerts in Beacon Hill Park, starting June 22, it was announced at the City Hall today. Regular programs each Sunday will include two major entertainments in which all three will be massed for a concert and later for a counter-marching display.

The navy band will open the schedule on June 22, followed by the army on June 29 and the air force on July 6.

On July 13 all three will join forces for a massed band concert, probably on the football field. After a conventional program, the three will take up positions for the counter-marching display while the pipe band of the Canadian Scottish plays during the interlude.

Regular concerts will be resumed July 20, with the navy playing. The following week the army will take charge and on August 3 the air force.

The second massed band performance will be held on August 10.

Grants Interest On Builder's Lien

Interest is chargeable on a mechanic's lien when payment under the lien has been improperly withheld, according to a County Court judgment handed down by Judge H. H. Shandley here.

The ruling was made as the result of claims put forward by the Triangle Storage Ltd., purchaser of the Parfitt Bros. Ltd. lien, against the Victoria Cold Storage and Terminal Warehouse Co. Ltd., and George T. Porter, representing bondholders.

In his decision, the first of its kind in British Columbia, Judge Shandley noted there was nothing in the Mechanics' Lien Act to give parties the right to interest. He explained, however, that the weight of authorities, principally in Saskatchewan cases, disclosed that where payment had been improperly withheld, the plaintiff was entitled to interest.

On that basis he allowed the application which also called for sale of properties covered by the lien.

Counsel for Mr. Porter asked that if the sale were ordered, an upset price be fixed for a sum larger than the amount of the lien and interest and that sale be made by tender, not auction.

In view of the fact only one lien holder was concerned, Judge Shandley declined the motion for a larger amount, but agreed to sale by tender. The terms are yet to be fixed.

In so far as interest was allowed, Judge Shandley exercised his prerogative in fixing a 5 per cent per annum return on the amount of the lien from November 5, 1935, when it was applied. The lien covered $27,503 worth of work.

Limit Placed On Liquor Sales

One person could not buy more than one case of Scotch whisky or other imported hard liquor in a B.C. Government Liquor Store today.

This was the effect of a quota plan laid down by the Liquor Control Board to protect the small buyer until increased liquor prices coming because of war can be brought into effect.

W. F. Kennedy, board chairman, said he had issued the instructions to vendors as a temporary measure while the new prices are being worked out. A substantial increase in prices is expected.

When a price jump is in the offing it is possible for a wealthy man to lay a stock in his basement before the increase is effective, thus saving the difference. Others, lacking the money, cannot do this.

For the dual purpose of eliminating this form of profiteering and to conserve stocks, the quota rule was put into operation.

Mr. Kennedy also said the board has been advised it will be able to import only 85 per cent as much liquor this year as last year, another factor affecting stocks.

The chairman is conferring with brewery, beer parlor and winery interests this week regarding the effect of the new federal taxes on beer and wines. The changes are not specifically decided yet, but the indication is there will be a jump in wine prices, a small increase in bottled beer, no change in beer by the glass, except possibly a larger "head" on the glass.

New Rewards in Chinese Murders

A $2,000 reward has been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the murderer or murderers of Chan Soon Jong at Gordon Head last Sunday morning, and $1,500 has been added to the $2,000 reward which was posted in connection with the murder of Dong Wing, also known as Tim Kee, at 1615 Government Street last Friday morning, it was learned today.

W. L. Lee, editor of the New Republic, Chinese daily newspaper here, informed the Times that the Yee Hing Tong and the Wing Chun Tong had both offered $1,000 rewards in the murder of Chan at his shack house on Torquay Drive.

The Yee Hing Tong also offered an additional $1,000 and the Sam Shong Tong an additional $500 to the $2,000 posted last Saturday by the Chinese Free Masons and the Dart Coon Club for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the murderer or murderers of Dong in his living quarters at the rear of a Chinese employment agency on Government Street, of which he was the proprietor.

Dong was murdered with a large double-bitted axe and Chan is believed to have been slain with either a meat cleaver or a shotgun or both and then cremated in his shack.

Mr. Lee said that it was possible the $3,500 reward in the Dong murder and the $2,000 reward in the Chan murder would be increased.

B.C. To Be Given Advance Census Data

Through arrangements made between the vital statistics branch of B.C. and the Dominion census branch, British Columbia will be given advance information from the census this year, on existing public health and nursing areas and those that are proposed.

This information will be available about two months after the census is taken. The province will not have to wait the long periods required for detailed segregation of census figures and the data will be of inestimable value to the public health program, officials said today.

Advance basic information will also be given for the special census enumeration areas of the Greater Vancouver district which have been plotted by the provincial bureau as an aid to census takers.

Federal Budget Debate

Capitalistic System
Best Yet, House Told

By C. R. BLACKBURN

OTTAWA (CP)—Preservation of the capitalistic system and profit-motive system until something better has been devised to replace it was urged in the House of Commons yesterday by H. R.
Jackman, Conservative, Toronto-Rosedale, in the course of the budget debate, which has now gone over to next week.After Angus MacInnis, C.C.F., Vancouver East, had reiterated his party's demand for immediate steps to provide new measures for social betterment, coupled with nationalization of the financial system, Mr. Jackman made a plea on behalf of private enterprise unhampered by excessive state control and taxation.
Mr. Jackman said he doubted if any system that has yet been advocated could have survived the "shocks" which have been borne by the capitalistic system in the past 10 years.

TWO AMENDMENTS

Two amendments now have been moved to the budget resolution.The first, moved by Victor Queich on behalf of the New Democracy group, expresses regret that the government has not taken control of the issue of credit by the chartered banks and suggests "funds from the Bank of Canada" should be used to finance governmental expenditures over and above the amount that could be raised by "reasonable taxation and sale of interest-free war savings certificates."The second, moved yesterday by Mr. MacInnis, would strike out the Bank of Canada section of the New Democracy amendment and substitute instead a suggestion for "nationalization of the financial system and its useLIVE WITHOUT GROWING OLDERBirthdays have no terror for me. I rather welcome them
because each year
that I live without getting older is further proof that my sense of living is right.The greatest thrill I get from my 83 years is the fact that I live without getting older. I am younger now than I was 30 years ago, and that each year I grow younger...The secret of youthfulness is vitality, and this is a product of proper food and exercise. Conventional foods are largely constipating, and the toxins of constipation can age you fast.The cornerstone of my health-building diet is to make at least one meal a day from one or another of my three natural whole-grain cereals, Dr. Jackson Meal, Bekus-Poddy, Lishu (all natural laxatives) my only beverage being alkaline Kofy Sub. To these I add milk, cheese, fresh fruits and vegetables and other simple natural foods.Follow this regime... and exercise reasonably and you'll find, as I did, that age can be turned back. If you are interested in this subject, send for my free booklet, "A Glorious Achievement." Address: Robt. G. Jackson, M.D., 755 Vine Ave., Toronto.P.S.—Ask your Canadian Bakeries salesman for a loaf of delicious, nourishing Roman Meal Bread—it's good for you!'ARIZONA' TO BE SHOWN AT CAPITOL"Arizona," Wesley Ruggles' epic of the great southwest, opens Saturday at the Capitol Theatre with Jean Arthur starred and William Holden, Warren William and Porter Hall heading a featured cast. The new Columbia drama, based upon Clarence Buddington Kellands novel of the same name, was adapted to the screen
by Claude Binyon.CAT PARTY ON DICTATOR'S LOTIt was literally a field day for cats on the Charlie Chaplin comedy, "The Great Dictator," showing at the Dominion Theatre today. While shooting on the Ghetto street, Charlie called to his assistant, Dan James.
"I have an idea. Get me 50 cats."Within half an hour after Chaplin's request a truck came in with crates containing a varied assortment of cats.After the scene was shot—not without difficulty, for directing 500 extras is an easy task compared to such a menagerie, Charlie called, "Now that the actors are finished—hamburger, fish and milk for all—and all they can eat!"

And did the cats "fall to."

ATLAS THEATRE

One of the greatest pictures ever made, "The Howards of Virginia," ends its run at the Atlas Theatre tomorrow. Cary Grant and Martha Scott are co-starred in the ever-stirring drama which Frank Lloyd produced and directed for Columbia. The new film, adapted to the screen by Sidney Buchman, is based upon Elizabeth Page's Literary Guild best-seller, "The Tree of Liberty," and includes Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Alan Marshall and Richard Carlson in its stellar cast.

SUGGESTIONS

At the evening sitting the debate produced the following suggestions from speakers:Rodney Adamson, Conservative, West York, Ont.—A new national registration in conjunction with the census and that members of Parliament visit England to serve as air wardens.Joseph Leclerc, Liberal, Shefford, Que.—Establishment of a minimum price of 30 cents for butter in May, to increase half a cent a month up to and including November.Dr. M. E. McGarry, Liberal, Inverness-Richmond, N.S.—Location of more war industries in Nova Scotia.Prospects of a vote on the budget last night faded when J. M.
Dechene, Liberal, Athabasca, Alta., launched an attack on the Social Credit government of Alberta, declaring Premier William Aberhart was not "pulling his weight" in the war. This drew a reply from Rev. E. G. Hansell, New Democracy, Macleod, Alta., who said Social Credit members were prepared to go further in prosecuting the war than any other group in the House.

Nudists Not Worried

Green Hills Hirtfordshire —
(AP)—Britain's biggest nudist camp has faced the fact that modern war is war in the air—and no trades stare for stare with Royal Air Force pilots who conduct low-altitude reconnaissance flights over the camp. "They seem to be over the camp a great deal," said the proprietor, his black beard streaming in the cold May wind, "but I expect they'll get used to us as we're getting used to them."At first the nudists, who sprawled on the greensward within the woodland camp a short trip north of London, thought of hot-footing it for the bushes whenever inquisitive fliers swooped over."But, everything in life being relative," the proprietor philosophized, "we adjusted ourselves.
Nowadays, we just look up at them as they look down at us."It didn't take the R.A.F. patrols long to spot the 10-acre park dedicated to the absorption of sunshine and fresh air in the altogether."If those pilots are as good at locating their targets across the water as they were in finding us, they will serve their country nobly," the proprietor said.The proprietor's wife explained that the nudists do not shun their responsibilities during air raids.
"The nights are too cold now," of course, for fire-watching in the nude," she said, "but on summer nights we'll be out with only our tin hats on."Speaking above the hum of a Spitfire cutting dizzy circles overhead, they said the war at first had threatened to cramp nudist activities, but that affairs now were nearing normal in the shed-your-shirt circuit.PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Ontario provincial police here were advised today that three children were burned to death yesterday when flames destroyed their home at Red Lake, northwestern Ontario mining town. The report said the victims were Noel Barten, five, Anita Barten, three, and Edith Barten, 18 months.CRESCENT

Hindus and Buddhists Think Bo Trees Are Holy

There are trees in India which millions of persons think are holy. They are known as bo trees or holy figs.

Bo trees have been planted near temples all over India. The Hindus think they are holy because of a legend. The legend says that the great god Vishnu was born under one of them.

Bo trees have large branches and grow to extreme age. The so-called "figs" which they produce are about the size of grapes. They can be eaten, but are not popular as fruit.

Side of the famous Budd-Gaya temple.

Perhaps even more than the Hindus, the Buddhists think of the bo tree as holy. They say that the Buddha, founder of their religion, learned the secret of life while in its shade.

The Buddha was born in India about 2,500 years ago. His name was Gotama (also spelled Gautama) and he was not called the Buddha until later in his life.

The name "Buddha" means "Enlightened One" or "One Who Knows." We are told that it was not given to Gotama until after he sat under a bo tree, and thought of the answer to what had puzzled him.

If you wish to put the great discovery of the Buddha in a few words, we may give it in this way: "The secret of happiness is not to want things."

We may feel almost sure that the tree under which the Buddha sat died long ago. Yet there are some who say it still exists beside the temple of Budd-Gaya. Others declare that the present tree is a descendant of the early tree, coming from seeds or cuttings.

In any case the tree near that temple is known as "the Bo tree," spelled with a capital "B." Buddhists from various countries journey to India so they can look at the tree.

The Budd-Gaya temple is in north-eastern India, not quite 300 miles from the city of Calcutta. It rises to a height of 160 feet. Inside it is a statue of the Buddha. Lamps are kept burning night and day before the statue.

India is not a Buddhist country; most of the people are Hindus or Mohammedans. It has some Buddhists, however, and there are millions of them in Ceylon and Burma, which are close to India. Buddhism is among the main religions of China and Japan.

HOROSCOPE

MAY 10

Adverse planetary aspects rule today. Hasty conclusions may be regretted.

It would be well to beware of faulty merchandise when making purchases. Petty differences may develop into serious quarrels. Because of the position of Venus, women should beware of poor judgment in embarking on new romances. Entertainments of all sorts will flourish as the day wears on.

Swift moves by the enemies of Great Britain are prognosticated. Persons whose birthdate it is, have the augury of a good year and may rise to great heights. Important planetary forces are focused on their sign this month. Children born on this day may be self-willed. Their chances of success are good.

CAMERA CLUB

"Wild Flowers" was the subject of prints submitted by members of the Civil Service Camera Club. First place was given to a print of yellow broom by George J. Alexander, second and third places were given to pictures by H. C. Whittaker and Miss Iris Vallance respectively. Criticisms were given by G. C. Carl and other members.

The rest of the program was given over to discussion of criticisms received from the Powell River Camera Club in connection with prints from the local club sent to them on exchange. Prints by members of the Powell River Club have been received and will be judged at the next regular meeting. George Alexander presided and J. W. Armstrong was in charge of the program.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—Most of the letters to you are about love. Mine is about hate. There are only two girls in our family, my sister and me. She is the pet. I am the goat. She is 16 and very popular. I am almost 18, and have never had a date. My parents call her the "beautiful swan" and me the "ugly duckling." They hate me and say I am a disgrace to the family because I am so homely. I do all the housework. My sister sits in front of the dressing table most of the time fixing herself up. Should I leave home? I will be of age in a few months. I had pneumonia, so I am not very strong. I want some happiness and I am getting desperate. What shall I do?

LONGER.

Answer—Well, if you want happiness, Lonesome, you must put all hatred and envy out of your heart, for they are a poison that will keep you soul-sick so that no matter where you are or what you do, you will be miserable.

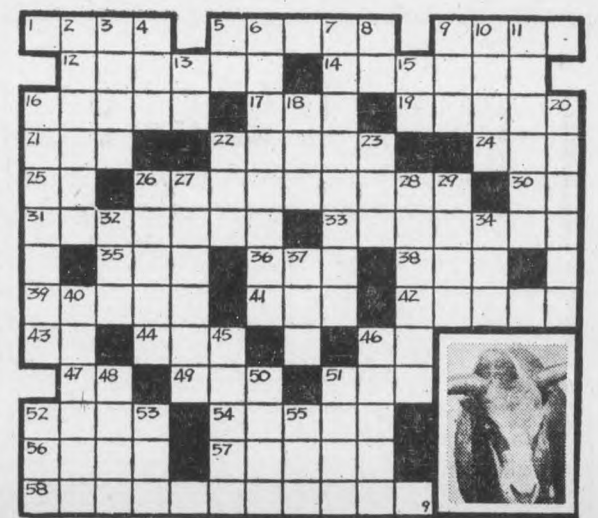

I do not think that there is any crueler situation in which a girl can be placed than to be a homely older sister who is brought in constant contrast with a pretty one. It emphasizes her every defect.

Strangers pass her by while they notice the beauty, and without realizing, perhaps, how cruel they are the family always spoils and pets the little queen and gives her the best of everything while they relegate the homely sister to the kitchen.

The only solution to your problem is to get your family to send you to some school in which you can learn a good trade by which you can be self-supporting. Perhaps, if you are ambitious, you can make yourself so efficient that you will be more admired for what you are and what you can do than your sister will for her pretty face.

DOROTHY DIX.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

Mrs. Coolidge Helps

MRS. GRACE COOLIDGE, widow of President Coolidge, has accepted a vice-chairmanship of the fight for freedom committee.

The committee's original manifesto declared the United States should "do whatever is necessary to insure a Hitler defeat," even at the risk of going to war.

Wants More Soldiers

RODNEY ADAMSON (Conservative, York West) said in the House of Commons at Ottawa that "it is almost criminal folly to delude ourselves into thinking we are going to be able to get through this war without large military forces."

He advocated use of men in medical categories B, C, D "and even E" for coast defence work in Canada, "and possibly abroad." "We are going to need every single able-bodied Canadian," he said. "Let us realize that and realize it now."

Mr. Adamson suggested Canada's minimum military effort, "in the light of the battle of Greece," should be to maintain overseas four infantry divisions—each with a complete armored brigade and complete artillery units—and two armored divisions.

Mr. Adamson estimated his "minimum requirements" for the army would call for 200,000 men. He added 60,000 to this figure to provide an adequate air force strength and 40,000 as a maximum for the navy—raising the total manpower requirements to 300,000.

Inflation Possibility

PROF. JAMES M. KEYNES, British economist, said in New York the financial system of the United States and Britain "could not function as it does now" if the Axis powers won the war.

"Not only would America's normal relationship with Europe's financial system be cut, but in the event of an Axis victory, I cannot even imagine normal relations between the United States and South America," he said.

Sent to the U.S. by Sir Kingsley Wood, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, he said the possibility of inflation in the United States—provided the war lasted another two years or more—would have to be watched "carefully."

"The United States has got a more important job than we. When a country is at war all sorts of regulating and interference are accepted. We ourselves accept things now that we would have accepted a few years ago. You've got to take time in a democracy—things have to be done by stages."

He said Germany had stopped inflation "dead" and Britain had "stopped it largely," citing the post office compulsory savings plan as a means of controlling it. "We will open an account in every man's name and at the end of each year we will advise him how much is in the account," he said. "At the end of the war that money will be unblocked. The blocked savings will not provide, therefore, an inflationary credit base."

Asked if inflation in the United States could be regulated similarly, he said:

"I have no doubt of it. It's a thing you must do."

'Gloom of Doubt'

HON. VINCENT MASSEY, Canada's high commissioner in London, appealed to workers "across the ocean" to expend "every last ounce of energy" to supply Britain with the tools of victory.

"The soldiers in the desert and those who defend the shores of Britain depend on you," Mr. Massey said. "They rely on you to throw into your task every last ounce of energy that will give them the tools they need—the tools they must have."

"Their very lives are in your hands and they know that you will not let them down."

"What do we need today," he asked, "to shorten the conflict and hasten the day of victory?" "The answer is clear—more planes, more tanks, more guns, more ships."

"And they are wanted now, as fast as they can be made, and sent overseas."

"This is a battle of the machine," he added, "the men we need are men in armor, men with weapons."

"While Britain stands—as she will—the enemy cannot win," Mr. Massey said.

"If Britain endures—as she will—she will be defeated."

The spirit of Britain remained "unshaken and unafraid," but in Germany the "gloom of doubt" was beginning to assail the people.

"There is doubt in Germany today because of the haunting fear that the cup of victory will turn bitter when the hour of liberation has struck."

"In this fearful conflict, our

Says Individuals Sat Back Too Long

Hitler's strength and most of his big victories have been the result of inactivity and lack of interest of individuals in the democratic states in their governments, said Major J. P. Simon in a luncheon address to the Lions' Club in Spencer's yesterday.

Major Simon is the secretary of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs. His lecture subject was "Democracy in Battle Dress."

"We have sat back and let George do it too long. We must get busy and provide leadership for our country," Major Simon said.

In democracy the law must evolve from the people, not from dominating powers, as was the case in totalitarian states.

This was the main difference in the war between the British Empire and Germany.

At this point in his address, Major Simon said he believed the bulk of the German people honestly believed their system was right.

"Our enemies say the individual has no right to form or express an opinion. The only people who had the right and knowledge to form an opinion were the dominant powers. We must guard against this becoming the belief and practice in the democratic countries," the speaker said.

A weakness of democracy was bitter personal controversies of party supporters which sometimes resulted in party supporters denying the truth of their opponents.

Major Simon spoke at length on the importance of considering the post-war period.

"We are confident of victory, but that is a military victory only, which will not necessarily win a peace," he said.

"To get that peace will be a tremendous job and we probably will not feel that the world is at peace until 40 or 50 years after the war. The people of Germany must be convinced that the democratic system is best before peace is truly established."

J. Chanten presided over the luncheon, at which about 20 members were present.

Largest gorilla in captivity is Mpongo, a 617-pound ape in the San Diego zoo.

Defeatism Charge

ROME (AP)—A special tribunal has sentenced Luigi Ciarraro, convicted of "political defeatism" in writing a letter signed by "a high military authority," to nine years' imprisonment with a year of detention in an asylum. A co-defendant, Umberto Nencioni, was convicted of composing the letter from notes taken from "the enemy radio" and he was sentenced to six and a half years imprisonment.
